Genuine Revolt in South on The President Is No Phoney

If there has ever been much doubt in the minds of the political leaders of the genuine revolt which exists in the South against the Truman administration, they have only to look at the conference of Southern Governors held last week and note the results.

Allan Shivers of Texas was elected chairman of the Governors. He is the one who spoke out against the Truman meeting recently held in Austin. When the group stated that it was the loyal Democrats of Texas Shivers raised the question, "Loyalty to what?"

The only answer came when Sam Rayburn spoke to the Governors in meeting, pleading for loyalty---- to the President, naturally.

For one Democrat, living in Canyon, Randall County, Texas, we are sick and tired of this loyalty business.

We have often gone to the polls and held our nose while voting for the stench of the Democratic nominee ----BUT NEVER AGAIN.

We are NOT going to vote to re-elect Harry Truman.

We are opposed to greed and graft in government, waste which goes on in Washington should make every local citizen of the United States determine that we shall have a house cleaning.

House cleaning means the defeat of some of the pets of the Democratic party. Unless they are defeated in the primaries, and denied the right of representing the Democratic party in November of 1952 we hold no compunctions against bolting the party and supporting better qualified candidates----provided we can find one.

Governor Jimmie Byrnes took the hide off of Sam Rayburn in denouncing the stand taken by Rayburn before the Governors. Rayburn had declared that the South would lose all of the chairmanships if the Republicans won. Incidentally, Sam was speaking for himself, since he holds the job of Speaker through his seniority in the House. Byrnes called the attention to Sam that the South would not be forced to go begging to the powers that be even if the Democrats were defeated in the 1952 elections. Sam likes his job as Speaker, and naturally he wants to see Truman re-elected and a comfortable margin of Democrats returned to the House.

Again, we shall see what we shall see in the coming election.

Thanksgiving Day Brings Us All Causes for Thankfulness

This is Thanksgiving.

It is the annual time when Americans are asked to get together and think about their blessings and the pleasures that we enjoy as citizens of a great and mighty nation.

In recent months the attention of the nation has been directed more to the short-comings of our nation than it has to the blessings of our country. An election always produces criticisms. It is time that we stop for a moment and reflect one more upon the other side of the picture.

In spite of the handicaps of our Republic, there is no nation on the face of the earth so greatly blessed as our America. All of us should stop and think as to these blessings, and what we would be without them.

In this nation are stored the greatest reserve of the minerals and soils, and bountiful natural resources that are to be found on the face of the earth. We have the greatest government of any of the nations. Our government is performing just about the type of services which a majority of the citizenship wish performed. If we do not like our present government we can go to the polls and demand a change. In no other nation are the citizens free to express their thoughts and to march to the polls to vote as they please.

While our forefathers set aside this day of thanksgiving to the kind providence which gave them health and protection in a rugged pioneer world, we of 1951 have cause to thank the same providence for the same protection; for the same good health, which has extended the span of life during the years; for a nation which is thoughtful of its citizens; and a government which is seeking to continue the high standards of a free people.

Enjoy your Thanksgiving Day. Perhaps few of us realize the terrible plight which might be our lot without the protection of this kind providence.

Graft in High Places Is At Last Recognized by Truman

At long last, President Truman has taken notice of the growing graft in his administration, and states that corruption will be a leading issue in next year's election.

It is about time that Truman took notice of this corruption.

Ever since the day when he defended the Reds in his administration and dubbed the congressional investigation as a case of red herring, case after case has developed.

Action has started within the Democratic party to clean up the mess before election time of next year.

Will the mess be cleaned up before the time for a vote, or will the voters remember the defense by the President when Congress first tried to take action and Truman declared that all of his men were good fellows who had done no wrong?

As we have stated time and again, even though Truman is defeated, there will be no assurance of a clean government in the future under GOP. Senator Taft is without doubt a clean man, but so far his candidacy has failed to click with the people. He is the cold, calculating type of individual who is not going very well with the people.

It is time that radical action be taken against greed and graft in our government. Truman has started too late to be entirely effective. But he should not put the brakes on investigations which condemn those in his own inner circle of friends, as he has done in the past.

It may be old-fashioned but if we had to look for help, in a national emergency, we would expect it from western Europe more than from Asia, Africa, South America and wayside ports.

Most of the problems of the nation would be solved overnight if the more fortunate were really interested in the welfare and improvement of the less fortunate.

Only One Amendment Approved Writers Resent So Many Trials

Of the five constitutional amendments submitted to the voters last week only one carried. The land purchase bill was adopted by a small majority of the minority group which took time out to vote on the proposals.

We read a most enlightening statement from an Austin writer the other day. This statement was to the effect that of the 177 proposals made for constitutional amendments only a very few were really in this class. The legislature has been side stepping issues by submitting them to the people for a vote rather than passing them into law. Perhaps there is a great deal of truth in this statement.

There are only two observations worthy of discussion at this time;

1. The cities of Texas favored the land purchase amendment, while the farmers opposed it. Veterans in the cities are more numerous than on the farms. Veteran legislation is often adopted without question.

2. It is now charged that the old age assistance amendment was defeated in the legislature when those who opposed the measures secured the inclusion of the residential section. We don't know about this, but we have no regret in having opposed this amendment, which could have been so bad on those who now secure this assistance. The legislature can re-enact this amendment for another vote.

The legislature should be more careful in passing amendments to the people. Just because a small minority group wants such and such legislation is no excuse for putting the state to such a large expense as was done in submitting these five amendments.

Rev. Bob Shuler Disects Truman And Finds Nothing Good

Members of the Methodist Church know Rev. Bob Shuler of Los Angeles, who grew up in Texas. Bob Shuler is a fighter from the word go. He publishes a paper which he says is not a religious paper, but his personal organ in which he deals with men and measures.

The magazine, called The Methodist Challenge, takes up Mr. Truman and states his failure as a haberdasher in a small Missouri town, has become more autocratic than Brutus. That Nero was just a piker compared to the little man from the Show Me state.

For instance, when HST took office in 1945, at the death of Roosevelt, he had an office force of 56, and it is now 293 and growing. His office force cost the taxpayers then $583,000, but presently $2,614,000. He has 33 domestic servants at his beck and call, including chauffeurs, for his 29 automobiles.

Of course you have heard of Truman's airplane, and Rev. Shuler says the ash trays on it cost $18,000. He is now asking congress for $1,760,000 to maintain his retinue of servants in style that Nero never dreamed of. The monthly upkeep of the plane alone is $10,000.

Then there is the yacht that he takes personal cruises to the West Indies every few months, while workers, including white collar men, are struggling to meet a rising cost and higher and higher taxes. This personal yacht cost into the millions and millions of dollars.

Then the preacher asks, "why not turn him out and elect some other man?" "That is the rub," says Rev. Shuler. Harry S. Truman was an apt scholar of Pendergast, and he has loaded the dice with appointees, all of whom would go to most any extreme to keep Little Harry in office. It means their well paid jobs."

Slaughter of Prisoners of War by Reds Should Change Our Minds

We are not surprised to read that the Reds of North Korea and of China are slaughtering the United Nations prisoners of war. Most of these prisoners are American soldiers.

It is no wonder that the truce representatives of the Reds want to put off discussion of prisoners of war until after shooting has stopped. They want more time in which to re-group their fighting forces in order to again attack when they get good and ready.

As we see it, what is the use of discussing peace with a bunch of liars whom no one can believe?

Why have we not turned the war dogs loose on the Reds, including the use of the atomic bomb, and ended this terrible waste of men and material long ago?

If Truman and the war heads think for a minute that a war in 1952 will re-elect the President, they are wrong. The whole bunch should be kicked out of Washington if that is their concept of good Americanism.

Now that bank deposits are backed by a federal guarantee, there is no longer any reason for hiding your money around the house or in the barn unless you are trying to fool the income tax man.

With money plentiful, it is a good time to advise people not to buy too rapidly or pay too much; it is much easier to assume a debt than it is to pay it off.

Every now and then we hear a businessman complaining but he never mentions that he is making more money than he ever made in his life.

No contestant can maintain high principles if the only objective is to win, whether it be football, business, politics or anything else that engages the attention of mankind.

An expert advises that the way to lose weight is to stop eating; if prices go up much higher somebody will have to tell us how to get the food to keep from losing weight.

The farmers are being called upon to grow big crops again this year for the world to use but nobody has a plan to prevent the big crops from making prices tumble.

Advertising helps every newspaper to meet its expenses and, if intelligently used, helps every advertiser to meet his expenses, too.

If you sacrifice principles for friendship, you lose something and gain nothing worth having.

One of the things that Hollywood actresses should avoid is a diary.

High Taxes Are Resented by The Big Local Taxpayers

We talked with a man the other day who knows personally practically all of the big income tax payers in Randall county.

He remarked as to the change which had been taken by most of these tax payers during the past few months. A few years ago the big tax payers were happy that they were able to pay such heavy taxes to the federal government. They were glad for the opportunity to be of service.

The change which he noted was that most of these tax payers now declare that they are paying their heavy income taxes unwillingly, and are seeking every loop-hole in tax payments. Some of them openly state that while the federal government is making no effort to reduce taxes, they see no sense in continuing to contribute such large sums of money to be wasted and even stolen by the employes of the federal government.

There is probably no way out for most of these tax payers except to continue paying in vast sums of money, but they sure are getting their poll tax receipts ready to turn out a bunch of Democrats who have figured so strongly in this increase of taxes.

They will start at the top of the ticket, where they expect to see the name of Harry Truman, come next November.

No excuse is as good as a satisfactory performance.

Deferment Tests Set Next Month

West Texas State College will be one of the more than 1,000 centers throughout the United States where the third Draft Deferment Tests will be given next month. Selective Service officials announced this week that it is too late to apply for the December test, but reminded college students that they should begin making plans now to take the next test.

Draft Director, Gen. Lewis B. Hershey, has stressed the importance of all eligible students taking the test. He has indicated that those men who do not have test score results in their cover sheets will have a tough time convincing their draft boards they should be deferred as students.

To be eligible to apply for the test, a student must: (1) intend to request deferment as a student; (2) be satisfactorily pursuing a full-time college course; (3) must NOT previously have taken a Selective Service College Qualification Test.

The next test will be April 24, 1952. Applications to take the test are available at any local draft board. Application blanks must be postmarked not later than midnight, March 10, 1952.

Governor Earl Warren Takes a Hand for GOP Nomination

Governor Earl Warren of California has finally decided to get into the race for the GOP nominee for President.

Those who have watched the political advance of Governor Warren are convinced that he would make a good chief executive in time, but he lacks a lot of experience. There is a great deal of difference between running the affairs of one state than to have the responsibility of 48 states, plus the troubles of a war shaken world.

At least the people will have a choice in their selection of GOP candidates.

New WT Socy Prof To Institute 'Modern Marriage and the Home' for Fall Semester

Don't hold it against him, but a man who used to teach sociology during summers at Texas Tech, now makes a full time job of it here at West Texas State. He's T. V. Crounse, Assistant Professor of Sociology.

And former places of employment notwithstanding, Dr. Crounse has seen the light . . . and is now as staunch a supporter of West Texas State as anyone. Anyway, Tech doesn't have a football team in the summer, so there!

Crounse is a living example of what a good sociologist ought to be. He's happily married, has a daughter attending classes at the Canyon Elementary School, has a pleasant disposition, and is not absent minded! He's a member of the Lions Club, and has had various posts in this organization. He is also a member of the Texas State Teachers Association, and Southwest Social Science Organization. He wears the key of Pi Gamma Mu, National Honor Scholarship Society of Social Sciences.

Crounse says he had no ambitions of becoming a sociologist. It just happened. While taking the course at college he became interested in it, and made it his life work. He decided it would be a better way to get information . . . to live in the world with a better understanding of relationships with society.

He's completely sold on the subject now. "Sociology is a great help to any individual," according to Crounse, "especially to those who are going to work with people — not only social workers, but school teachers, retail business men, ministers, lawyers, or any other professional group."

Crounse is actually a Tarleton State College man, having been the Associate Professor of Sociology there for the past 11 years. He's a native Texan, received his B. A. at North Texas State, his M. A. at Tech, and has done post-graduate work at the University of Colorado, all in Sociology, of course.

Four Sociology courses on campus and one at the Amarillo Center, that's the present extent of Crounse's work. Next fall, however, in a readjustment of the department, some existing courses will be dropped, and others added. A course called Modern Day Marriage will replace the current Marriage and the American Home. Juvenile Delinquency will replace Children with Problems. Two other courses, Abnormal Psychology and Race Problems, will be dropped next fall.

Crounse has had some interesting students, especially in the Modern Day Marriage class. In the marriage class last summer, at Tech, he had (you count 'em): a newly-wed couple, one divorcee —female, various bachelors and "old maids," a minister, a member of the college faculty, a ministerial student, three or four single girls and young men who were engaged, parents of grown children, an ex-GI and a foreign bride. Practically every social, political, religious and economic group was represented in the class. Did they get along? Why, sure! A combination of such assorted students made the class more interesting!

* * * * * * * * * *

"Now, here's what might be done in a case like this," he might be saying to the students here. But more likely, Dr. T. V. Crounse, WT's new sociology professor, is merely explaining some of the tribulations of being a human, and maybe some other things which may help us humans behave better.

BOYCE HOUSE
Gives You Texas

Champ Clark, the Missouri statesman who just missed being President, said, "Many men know many things in a dim, hazy sort of way. Few know anything accurately."

Clark, in his autobiography, gives many interesting bits of information about happenings in Congress—such as the time that the scholarly Edward Everett closed a speech with a long passage from Tacitus in the original; and a member from the West then arose and made a speech—in Choctaw!

The delegate from Wyoming (this was of course before statehood) delivered a two-hour speech in blank verse! And when the speech appeared in the Congressional Record, it was accompanied by the line, "Copyrighted, all rights reserved," which created quite a stir among the Congressmen.

Did you know that a Senator drew a pistol on another in the Senate? Clark tells about it Foote of Mississippi drew the weapon on Benton of Missouri.

And a man was elected to Congress who admitted having three wives. This was in the 1890's and the man was a Mormon.

Gen. James Shields, a Democrat, served in the Senate from three different States—six years from Illinois, one year from Minnesota and 39 days from Missouri.

Shields, by the way, was quite an individual. He was born in Ireland. He challenged Lincoln to a duel. Abe accepted and the principals and seconds started for the field of honor but friends patched it up. The challenge was the result of some letters which appeared in the newspapers and which were written by the future Mrs. Lincoln.

Shields was shot through the lungs and body by grapeshot at Cerro Gordo in the War with Mexico. He used his wounds as the basis of his plea for office, pretty much as old Sam Houston used to limp on that "San Jacinto leg." When Shields defeated one Sydney Breeze for the United States Senate, a wag remarked that a curious thing was that the missiles went clear through Shields without permanently injuring him but proved fatal, politically, to Breeze, 2000 miles away!

WHEAT

Recent reports indicate that farmers of the nation plan to plant about 80,000,000 acres to wheat next year, which would be about 1.5 per cent more than the goal of 78,850,000 acres set by Secretary of Agriculture Brannan and would compare with 78,507,000 acres seeded to wheat for the 1951 crop. This year, 1951-52, less wheat is being produced than is likely to be used domestically and exported, but the carry-over from previous years is more than enough to provide sufficient wheat to meet these needs.

MR. DAIRYMAN:

Here is a very good herd of dairy cows that are going to be sold at Auction, and it is the kind of herd that everyone interested in dairy cattle can take note of. I have personally inspected this herd and find them to be big, very productive cows, the big percent being out of some H. B. Hales Reg. Holstein Bulls and home raised. Calfhood vaccination has been practiced for many years. Then on top of all this there are about 25 to 28 just fresh or heavy springing cows, and when it is all summed up they are truly a top herd.

CAN DO BETTER

The old farmer was dozing in the shade of his front porch, when a high-pressure salesman bustled up the front walk and awakened him with a cheery "Good afternoon." He had a sample book of a 10-volume set on scientific agriculture he was selling.

The old farmer was at length persuaded to page through the specimen volume.

"Nope," he objected, "ain't got no use for it."

"But you ought to have it," the salesman insisted. "It will teach you to farm twice as good as you do now."

"Nope, son," barked the ancient agriculturist. "I don't farm half as good now as I know how."

REMINDER

The indignant man was known into the lawyer's office.

"Look here," he burst out, "you've charged me for two consultations on the fifth of last month and I was only here once."

"The fifth of last month," said the solicitor, smoothly. "That was Friday and if I remember correctly it was a very wet day, wasn't it?"

"Yes, it was," answered the client, shortly.

"Well, after you left you came back to ask if you had left your umbrella here."

THE FORGETFUL HOST

One day a visitor arrived in the home of Leonard Liebling, editor of "Musical Courier," just as the family was about to sit down to dinner. Mr. Liebling, annoyed at such thoughtless timing, had the maid ask the guest to wait.

After an unhurried meal, Mr. Liebling greeted his friend. "Sorry to keep you waiting," he said, "but we always eat at 7."

"That's what I thought," the friend replied, "when you invited me to dinner tonight."

Intoxication Through Nose Impossible, Scientists Say

Can a person become intoxicated simply by inhaling a large amount of alcohol?

"It is virtually impossible," say two Yale scientists who have conducted extensive tests to establish industrial and legal standards for the control of alcohol vapors.

David Lester and Leon A. Greenberg, Research Associates in the Yale Laboratory of Applied Physiology, found that in normal breathing a person cannot inhale enough alcohol vapor to lose his sobriety.

Even when the person is breathing fast, such as under great physical exertion, he does not take in an amount of alcohol vapor that would affect his physical and mental powers enough to be considered "intoxicated," they report.

The two Yale scientists describe their tests in an article, "The Inhalation of Ethyl Alcohol by Man," in the June issue of the Quarterly Journal of Studies on Alcohol published by the Yale Laboratory of Applied Physiology. Mr. Greenberg is also Assistant Director of the Laboratory.

In their tests they found that up to 62 per cent of the alcohol vapor inhaled can be absorbed into the blood stream. The remaining 38 per cent is usually passed out by exhaling. The alcohol that is absorbed into the blood stream is oxidized fast enough by the body to prevent intoxication.

The results of the tests indicate, however, that a person who is drinking alcohol will become intoxicated much faster if he is in a room with large concentrations of alcohol vapor in the air.

The Yale scientists also had a warning for persons receiving the Antabuse treatment for alcoholism. Antabuse, which is the common name for the drug tetraethylthiuram disulfide, is taken internally during the treatment. If the person drinks alcohol while he has Antabuse in his system, he immediately becomes violently sick. This nauseating experience is usually enough to cause a person to lose his taste for liquor and at the same time serves as a warning against future drinking as long as he has Antabuse in his system.

Visitors to Hawaii Always Head for the Famed Beaches

When visitors arrive in Hawaii, they generally head first for the beach.

If the closest sands are at Waikiki, they'll spot surfriders working over boards at beach clubs, or riding the far-off waves, for Waikiki is surfing headquarters for these tropic U.S. islands.

Pale-skinned vacationers get thrills as well as suntans by renting boards and taking lessons from the beachboys. Or they may go for expertly-guided rides in outrigger canoes, which catch the waves for long, swift glides.

In Old Hawaii, surfboard riding or "He'e nalu" was done with thin, flat boards five to seven feet long, or thick, cigar-shaped boards up to 16 or so feet.

Now most popular are solid redwood boards five to 10 feet long, and balsa-redwood and hollow boards 10 to 14 feet.

There's no shortcut to expert and trick riding, but visitors often after only a day's lesson are able to navigate lying down, and a few surprise themselves by riding a roller standing up.

Waves become surf when they break over the edge of the reefs which protect Hawaii's calm swimming waters. Each surf is named, and board addicts have kept charts through the years which indicate how often and what month specific "breaks" may be expected.

Waikik surf varies from the three or four-foot "small" or "Canoe" surf to the grand but rare "Zero Break", when surf forms out from shore and waves are 30 feet high.

Shoplifting Sisters

Women shoplifters—amateur and professional—are one of the biggest problems facing department stores today. Recent years of soaring living costs have brought an influx of shoplifters to all large cities. But it is the amateur shoplifters—whose offenses amount to less than the professionals—who cause the most trouble. The majority of shoplifters are women—all ages and incomes—bent on getting something for nothing. They rarely succeed for long, and enough tears of repentance have flowed in the offices of store detectives to float a fleet of ships. Experienced shoplifters have many devices for their job: hidden gimmicks in their clothing to get their loot out of sight, and even improvised laundry marks and seemingly authentic sales slips to prove the articles were honestly purchased.

New Tooth Filling

A new type of dental filling material made of resin or synthetic plastics is being used by dentists with encouraging results. The new filling material, to match the color of the tooth, was reported as more impervious to stains and more permanent than the synthetic porcelain or cement fillings in common use. "Not since silicate cement was introduced 50 years ago has any material made suhc an impact on operative dentistry," say prominent dentists.

No material shortage seen for furnishings, except rugs.

Off-Campus Study Up In Enrollment

Correspondent and extension enrollment for 1950-51 at WT have surpassed previous enrollment records, it was revealed in an annual report made by Mrs. T. V. Reeves, director of correspondence and extension courses.

Enrollment for the current year will exceed the 1950-51 record of 622 students in the extension courses, and records so far indicate the correspondence record of 731 students will be equalled or surpassed, Mrs. Reeves said.

Mary Sligar, assistant professor of education, has charge of the extension work of 380 students. Dr. J. B. Roberts, Dr. J. L. Russell, Emmitt Smith of the Education department and Crannell Tolliver, head of the Speech department, also work with correspondence and extension students.

When the new correspondence bulletins appeared September 1 they showed a number of new courses available. Courses were added to the agriculture, business and Art departments; the English department is offering three advanced courses; home economics has added one three hour course called "Nutrition for The Layman."

Six semester hours are available in geography, and the physical education department has two new courses. A new division, Bible, is offering 15 hours.

Twelve semester hours of correspondence work may be used to meet the requirements for a bachelor's degree.

SUNNYHILL H. D. CLUB MET WITH ROSIE MILLER

The Sunnyhill H. D. Club met recently in the home of Rosie Miller.

After a short business session, an interesting program was given on Texas Safety Rules. Following the program, handkerchief trees were given to two members, Mattie Prutsman and Dorothy Evans, who are moving.

Plans were made by the club for Achievement Day, November 15, which will be observed in the home of Mrs. E. W. Miller. The Western Avenue Club of Amarillo has been invited to attend.

Refreshments were served to Mattie Prutsman, Bonnie Gist, Myra Nell Culp, Dorothy Evans, Mary Jane Millen, Mary Williams, Sue Miller, Maurine Allison; two guests Dorothy Sykes and Faye Basley, and the hostess, Rosie Miller.

POLIO

The Public Health Service believes that polio apparently has passed its peak for this year. The agency reported 1,709 new cases of polio during the first week of September, compared with 1,734 the week before. The cumulative total since the seasonal low last March was 12,188, compared with 12,177 for the same period last year.

WT Airman Attempts Suicide From Campus Water Tower

An attempted suicide failed Monday night when Pfc. Arturo R. Alvarez, Kingsville airman on the WT campus, braved the wind and the cold and the 104-foot water tower to talk his fellow classman out of jumping.

Spectators said the 19-year-old private first class who attempted to kill himself walked around the catwalk on the tower several times calling out, "I'm going to jump." Earlier in the evening, the unnamed youth had attempted to climb the water tower.

Alvarez, a roommate of the youth, saw him climbing up and without hesitation started his own ascent. After talking calmly for a few minutes, they both started down the cold steel leg they had climbed, while onlookers stood silently watching.

The youth has been at WT almost two months taking the Air Force clerical course. Alvarez has been stationed here three weeks.

One of the airmen said the youth had been seen leaving the barracks and was followed. When he was seen attempting to climb the tower, other Air Force men were called and Alvarez volunteered to make the hazardous climb.

Few of the civilian students knew of the suicide attempt until the next morning.

Speech Students To Stage Mystery

First play of the season of the West Texas Speech Department will be a mystery-drama, "Double Door," to be presented December 10, 11 and 12 at the Branding Iron Theater. William A. Moore is directing the production and Wendell Cain is serving as technical director.

The play, by Elizabeth McFadden, is a fictionized version of the story of a once-prominent aristocratic family of New York.

In the lead role of the elder daughter of the Van Bret family, Victoria, is Barbara Gaither of Amarillo. The younger sister, Carolyn, is played by Ruth Elaine Harmon of Floydada.

Rip Van Bret, their young brother, is the part of Ted Lanham of Floydada. Mildred Fite of Adrian is cast as a nurse, with whom Rip falls in love despite the disapproval of the domineering Victoria.

Dick Houston of Amarillo has the role of Dr. Sully, and Eugene Hill of Canyon is playing the part of William, the footman. Avery, the housekeeper, is the role of Beth Beane of Amarillo, and Arminta Berry of Floydada will portray the maid, Louise.

Persons interested in assisting with any phase of the play will be welcomed at rehearsals, according to Director Moore.

Admission prices to the December production will be 75 cents for adults; 50 cents for students; and 25 cents for children.

Patterson Returns From Fort Worth Convention

Miss Lou Ella Patterson, Randall County Home Demonstration Agent recently returned from a business trip to Fort Worth. The trip was to attend the national meeting of the County Home Demonstration Agents Association. Miss Patterson left Saturday, November 3, and returned Thursday, November 8.

At the convention Miss Patterson was chairman of the Texas Hostess Committee. All of the women in this group wore boots and a big hat. The western garb was a sort of brand. Miss Patterson relates that there was no mistaking the fact that all her group were real Texans. There were 28 women in this committee. There were supposed to be two agents from each district in the state but a few of them did not make the trip.

Everyone enjoyed the highly successful convention, reported Miss Patterson. The total attendance climbed to 690 with 146 Texas delegates. Forty-three states and Puerto Rico were represented at this annual convention of the County Home Demonstration Agents which was a national occasion.

Harry S. Truman, to Senator Robert A. Taft, of Ohio: "I see you have thrown your hat in the ring and I suppose you will have all the fun that goes with that sort of a decision."

Buy, Build, Live in Canyon!

If it be possible, as much as lieth in you, live peaceably with all men.
—New Testament

Peace is a nursing mother to the land. —Hesiod.

Let us give thanks!

Dear Lord, how can we thank Thee half enough
For all Thy gifts to us this fruitful year!
For spring's bright promise gloriously fulfilled
This harvest-time; for these that are more dear
Than bread assured: all the sweet joys of life—
Home, work, love, friends—that gild the passing days;
And children's laughter on the evening air—
For all, dear Lord, we give Thee grateful praise.

But most of all, O God, we thank Thee for
Our cherished heritage of freedom. Here
Where men walk safely, surely; speak and pray
As each one wills, and freely, without fear,
Lord make us strong to hold and spread this boon!
From our abundance help the weak to raise
Their hearts and come to share our brotherhood,
And join with us in songs of thanks and praise!

Program Is Planned For Opening of Park Road

Sunday, December 2nd, will be a big red-letter day at Palo Duro Canyon State Park.

Not only will there be a varied program of entertainment to mark the official opening of the new paving into the canyon, but several new features and attractions will be ready for park visitors.

Opening the celebration at 2 o'clock will be a mounted square dance and quadrille performance by the Hereford Riders on Mesa Mecca.

At approximately 2:45 a band, as yet unannounced, will present a short concert on the square dance slab at Crossing No. 1, to be followed by a brief dedication program.

Senator Grady Hazlewood, Frank Quinn, chairman of the State Parks Board and a representative of the state highway department will make a brief appearance.

Also to be introduced will be representatives of the Panhandle Advisory Committee for Palo Duro Park and the road contractor, Bell, Braden, Barker and Gilvin.

Members of the Kwadhai Indian dancers, under the direction of R. S. Irelan, will then portray authentic early Indian dances. They will be followed on the program by members of the Amarillo Motorcycle Club who will conduct an open invitation field meet.

Scheduled for completion by the grand celebration date are a roving archery course, which simulates actual primitive hunting conditions, and a restoration of the original and historic Colonel Charles A. Goodnight dugout in the canyon itself.

Plans for the opening were discussed in Canyon Tuesday by representatives from chambers of commerce in Canyon, Amarillo and Tulia.

Legion Auxiliary To Contribute Gift Box

The American Legion Auxiliary of Canyon is helping with the gift shop of the Veterans Hospital in Amarillo. These gifts are distributed among the patients there for them to send home to their family. Any help from the public will be appreciated.

A gift box has been placed at Farlow Electric Company for anyone who cares to donate any gift for families of all ages. Toys, towels, candy, pillowcases, or anything that you might give to any family.

These gifts are greatly appreciated by those veterans who have no other means of giving a little Christmas to their wives and children. This gift box must go in by the first week in December in order to be wrapped and assorted.

Mr. and Mrs. Art Roberts, Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Roberts, and Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Holcomb of Tulia attended the funeral services of their uncle and brother-in-law, Guy Maxwell of Clovis, New Mexico, Saturday.

Mr. and Mrs. Ivan Bullard and Nancy, and Mr. and Mrs. T. R. White and family visited in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Forest N. Bullard of Ulysses, Kansas, over the week-end.

Artificially Bred Stock To Improve Production of Local Dairy Herds

Progressive dairymen in this area are constantly on the alert to find new ways and means of improving their cattle and their production. This year two great strides were taken toward this end. The first stride was taken back in the early spring when the Dairy Herd Improvement Association was started. The second and more recent stride was taken when this improvement association formed an artificial breeding association.

The field of artificial insemination of livestock is not new. It was first practiced by progressive agricturists several centuries ago. However, it has found its greatest use within recent years in the field of dairymen. In Texas this year there are more than 3,000 herds numbering more than 35,000 cows being artificially bred.

Artificial breeding is simply the placing of semen within the reproductive tract of the cow. The semen that is used here is taken from bulls kept for this purpose by the Texas Technological College at Lubbock. This semen is taken three times each week and is immediately prepared and shipped by bus to outlaying districts. The semen arrives in Canyon about noon and can be used until another shipment is received. When prepared this way, the semen from one bull can be used to breed more than 50 cows in one week.

The actual insemination is done by trained technicians who have qualified for this work. The work in Randall County is done by Dr. J. L. Markham, Canyon veterinarian, and H. L. Hersley, supervisor of the Herd Improvement Association. The association also has a man in Hereford.

At the beginning of this month there were eight herds comprising 316 animals signed in the association. A membership drive has not been launched as yet and many more herds will probably be signed up soon. Membership dues will be $10 annually and a member can expect to have his cows bred for $6.50 per animal. The fee covers three trips by the inseminator if they are required.

A mileage charge is made if the trip is over a certain specified distance. These charges have been set up and can be changed by the association. Fees charged go to pay the inseminator and to pay for the semen. The association is a non-profit co-operative.

Advantages of artificial insemination are many. The big benefit most dairymen will receive is that it will enable them to use a bull that they themselves could not afford. Holstein and Jersey bulls kept for stud service are chosen only from the top producing herds of the United States. One dairyman, working alone, could never own such a bull.

There is less danger in spreading some disease when artificial breeding is used. This breeding system does away with the danger involved in keeping a herd bull around the premises.

On the other side of the picture, a few dairymen may not like some of the qualities of artificial breeding. The most common gripe is that the service is not as effective as natural service. In Texas several year's records show that 60% of the cases will conceive the first time when artificially bred. This is as high a percentage as natural service will give under similar conditions, with one serving. Accurate records are kept when artificial breeding is done and under natural service no record is kept as a general rule.

A county meeting will be held in Canyon soon to acquaint dairymen with this new dairy program. As mentioned before the D.H.I.A. is the sponsor; Clark Jarnagin is president of this association and A. B. Haynes, Jr., is secretary.

John Brazzil, Randall County Agent, has a few copies of the pedigree of the bulls used at Tech and invites those interested to see them.

CORRECTION

Our Poppy Sale in the American Legion Auxiliary was a success due to the generosity of the people in Canyon. To you, we would like to say, Thank You. We would also like to express our appreciation to Mr. Warwick, who permitted us to use his window prior to the sale, to all those who helped sell, and our poppy chairman and her helpers.

The American Legion Auxiliary buys its poppies from disabled veterans who are confined in hospitals permanently. From our profit we send one-third to the state department to continue our work with Veterans' orphans, welfare work, and hospital work. The balance is used in our own area for welfare work among veterans' families, hospital work at the Veterans' Hospital in Amarillo, and our National Christmas assessment for disabled veterans. Again, we thank every one who helped.

Thanksgiving Was Observed Tuesday By Rotary Club

A Thanksgiving program was given Tuesday at the Rotary Club luncheon by John R. Sharp, who stated that there was "Too many things to be thankful for that they could not be listed."

Mr. Sharp recalled that when he first came to the Panhandle there were six straight years of drouth when a section of land would not produce enough to pay the taxes. He read a passage from the Psalms which described the situation.

The Psalms are filled with thanksgiving. Mr. Sharp read a number of passages of scripture from the pen of David.

"We have much to give thanks for our forefathers," stated the speaker. He described the circumstances of the first Thanksgiving, and the dangers which confronted the small band of pilgrims. They may have had their faults, in the eyes of modern civilization, but they were honest and sincere in their devotion to their new home. They worked hard to establish this nation without the benefits of portal to portal pay; and without the advantages of an 8-hour day, five days per week. They were seeking a place where they could worship God according to the dictates of their own conscience.

Our forefathers had initiative; courage; unafraid of hard work; unlimited faith in God — all of which are so sorely needed today.

Mr. Sharp described the work of a combine which harvested his grain the other day. One man did the work that would have required 50 men a few short years ago. Human ingenuity had caused this invention. When "God created man in his own image," he opened up the field of great inventions and discoveries.

The Bible is the greatest book of the world. He advised all men to read the book, and to perform their obligations to the church, which was founded by men who believed in the Bible.

Visitors were A. G. Atkins, Van H. Allm, Leon W. Dupuy, Floyd A. Hemphill, Guy Carlander, Densel Dean, Henry Butchker, J. J. Sanders, Bill Dooley, William H. Torry, R. G. Mills, Geo. Aulback, John Oakes, Emil F. Myers, Swede Tolzien, John McCarty, all of Amarillo; and Ted Hartman of Sebewaing, Michigan.

Fancy Prices Paid Registered Herefords at Geo. Nance Sale

One of the largest registered Hereford cattle sales ever staged in the nation was put on Tuesday at the George Nance ranch east of Canyon. 218 animals were sold, bringing a total of $240,935.

Activities started Monday night when Mr. and Mrs. Nance entertained the host of buyers at the Herring Hotel in Amarillo. The biggest breeders in the nation were present.

Two large circus tents were erected at the Nance ranch east of Canyon, one the sale, and the second for the barbecue and refreshments which were given to the big crowd throughout the day.

More than 1,000 bidders were present and eagerly sought the Nance offering.

"This was the finest group of cows that I have ever seen," stated one Hereford breeder.

The offerings were scattered from California to New York, with the top breeders from these states bidding for the fancy animals.

The Nance herd has been top winners in the big shows of this area for many years, and justified the fancy prices which were paid at the sale Tuesday.

The sale continued from 11 o'clock in the morning until 6:30 in the evening when the last animal was sold.

Cooperation Asked In Holiday Mailing By P. O. Officials

Every year about this time the Post Office is literally flooded with cards, letters and packages. Post Office employees sag under the terrific strain of the additional burden of mail and the general public does a lot of complaining about getting mail in terrible condition and getting it late. The Post Office Department has expressed eagerness in doing a prompt, efficient job of delivering the mail.

There are many instances in which the public could help the Post Office department a great deal. This statement does not mean that you should be willing to drop by the post office and help sort letters or carry packages, it does mean that if packages are wrapped neatly, sturdily and are properly addressed when you come to the post office, the task of the officials will be more efficient and prompt.

One of the inconvenient factors that most people don't realize they are committing is the individual mailing of a large stack of Christmas cards. Each of these cards must be picked up, stacked neatly in order to run through the stamping machine. The process of getting Christmas cards out could be speeded up if the folks mailing them would tie them in a neat package, in a uniform position and hand them to one of the post office officials or drop them through the package slot if it is after closing hours.

This saves an official the time and trouble of gathering the cards and straightening them out for the stamping machine. The compensation to you is the fact that the cards will arrive more promptly and in a neater condition because they have not been handled so often. Of course out-of-town and city cards should be separated.

Guy Harp has written a condensed form of instructions that will speed up the process of the holiday mail. These instructions have been posted on the bulletin board so that everyone who enters the Post Office will have access to it. Mr. Harp did not simply tack the long notice he received through the mail up on the board. He went to the trouble of condensing it so that the public would not have to read anything which did not pertain to this area.

The theory that the individual is doing himself a favor when he abides by these instructions was expounded by Mr. Harp. When Post Office officials do not have to waste time handling a package easily because the contents are about to spill out, or carry the package all over the house hunting someone who can help him figure out the address on it, they have more time for the performance of duties.

Harp also pointed out that by following instructions, the people are merely giving the Post Office workers an opportunity to do their work in the manner which it should be done.

Thanksgiving

Public Change Is Seen as Result of Voters' Opinions

(By Byron C. Utecht, correspondent of Star-Telegram)

The defeat of four of the five proposed constitutional amendments November 13 proved that the people of Texas have become exceedingly wary and even alarmed over increased government costs, which always mean increased taxes, since all of the submitted amendments had for their main objective more money.

In rejecting the amendment that would have qualified thousands of aliens to receive old age pensions the voters showed not only their respect for citizenship but helped out the old folks, who would have had to take reduced monthly checks under the terms of the amendment.

Also, the results at the polls proved that people have awakened to the dangers of Socialism and want it stopped. There is now no excuse for calling a special session of the legislature.

The finances of the Texas state government are in excellent condition, according to the October 31 report of State Treasurer James, who itemizes 270 funds, nearly all having good balances, and with the total cash in all funds standing at $172,000,000. So Texas is far from broke.

The general revenue fund balance stood at about $21,000,000, a remarkable showing when compared with the $3,600,000 balance in March of 1950. When Mrs. Miriam Ferguson was governor there was a deficit of $30,000,000 in the general revenue but no one got excited over it and no new taxes were passed at that time.

Members of the legislature are beginning to comment that maybe the state would be better off without a surplus in the general revenue fund for then there would be no grand rush to overspend and overtax.

More about the good shape of Texas finances. State Auditor Cavness in a survey shows that for the 1940-1941 fiscal period the state's cash on hand totalled $48,177,000, and that ten years later for the 1950-1951 fiscal period this total reached $194,571,000, an increase of $146,393,000. Most of this money came from those industries taxed under the omnibus bill, about 21 of them, but there are about 30 others not subjected to any state levies.

The Cavness report further discloses that the permanent school fund stands at $168,973,000, an increase of $12,809,000 since 1950. The University of Texas permanent fund is now, according to the survey, $120,634,000, an increase of $16,808,000 since 1950.

The teachers' retirement fund now has $54,700,000, an increase of $8,174,000 since 1950. Teachers' membership accumulation is placed at $37,907,000, an increase of $6,645,000 since 1950.

One of the most remarkable revelations is the fact that the United States government has a balance of $241,000,000 in Texas money, deposited by the Texas Employment Commission and this large fund, which would help a lot in this state, Texas will never get. The big total was paid by Texas employers and employees. The legislature would be more than justified in making an effort to get this money for Texas' usage since it belongs to this state. In Washington it is known as a "trust fund."

Most of the state departments, boards, bureaus and commissions increase and expand year after year. So it is refreshing to note that Cavness reports the state treasury in the 1940-41 period had 61 employees and that only three have been added since then, in a period of 10 years.

With the last federal government tax increase of nearly $6,000,000,000 the average man and woman in this country work four months of a year for government, local, state and federal. Four years ago we all worked three months a year for government. Practically everything you buy has several taxes added to the price. People don't have salaries any more but get what is known as "take home pay."

Youths Pay for Windows Broken At WT Dormitory

A $78.00 property damage bill was paid Friday afternoon by the boys who broke the windows out of Palo Duro Hall, a West Texas State College dormitory, Monday night, November 12. The rock-throwing, window-breaking event followed an incident in which an airman, who is attending classes at the college, made an attempt to leap from the water storage tank.

By Thursday afternoon, John King, Chief of Police, had rounded up eight boys suspected of having a part in the rock-throwing incident that resulted in several broken windows in the dormitory. Six of the boys confessed to having had a part in the affair while two denied any part of it.

Upon being apprehended, the boys did everything in their power to help the authorities straighten out the knotty problem. Each confessed his part and made the promise that no such incident would be repeated in the future by him. In an attempt to give the boys a glimpse of how such actions look from the sidelines, King extended an invitation for them to ride around with him some night when he is patrolling.

The boys came to the Thursday afternoon meeting without being brought in by authorities. Friday afternoon the boys and their parents met the authorities in the City Hall. It was at this time that the $78.00 bill was presented by the college.

COULDN'T WAIT

A subway was being dug. A drunk stopped beside the excavation and called down to the man at the bottom of the pit:

"Shay, whatcha doin' down there?"

"We're building a subway," one of the men responded.

"How long's it goin' to take to buil' it?"

"Three years."

"Three yearsh? (hic) I'll take a taxi."

An Indian had attended services one Sunday morning. The sermon had been very loud in spots and the Indian, though a good Christian, was not greatly impressed.

Later, when asked how he had liked the sermon, he said: "High wind. Big thunder. No rain!"

King and Queen Selected at Free Show Saturday

The high spot in the Canyon Community Recreation Program's free show Saturday was the selection of Ronnie Reynolds as king and Joyce Shelnutt as queen. The selection was made on the basis of quietness. In fact, the contest was called a 'quiet contest.'

Children were judged on the basis of quietness as they entered the theater, took their seats and also during the performance. The winners of the contest were each given a show ticket that can be used at their convenience.

Plans for expanding the awards for this contest are now in the making. Cecil Massey says that if things go according to plan the awards in the 'quiet contest' will be the thrill of a lifetime for the boy and girl who win them.

Children are asked to remember the contest rules. They are: (1) Do not talk out loud. (2) Stay in your seat. (3) Keep your feet on the floor. (4) Do not create noise, and (5) Be considerate of others. These are the simple rules that should be observed in order to win awards granted the king and queen in the 'quiet contest.'

The free show and the contest were sponsored by Plains Creamery and W. J. Wooten of the Olympic Theater.

Tulia Man Is New Concession Owner At Buffalo Lake

Roy C. Childers of Tulia was informed last week that his bid had won him the concessionaire of Buffalo Lake. Almost 100 forms had been issued previously to the bidding deadline of November 1.

Jimmie Caserta, regional directro of the soil conservation service, announced last week that the bid of Mr. Childers' had won the concession.

The 49-year-old Childers is a resident of Tulia and has lived there, from time to time, since 1916. Since his return from Marlow, Okla., where he operated a hardware store while acting as an oil and gas distributor, he had been connected with the Royal and Gay Theaters in Tulia, the Palace Theater in Silverton and the Grand Theater in Happy.

Mr. and Mrs. Childers have two children, Billene and Reta Joyce. Billene is still at home while Reta Joyce resides in Amarillo.

In making a statement about winning the concession at Buffalo Lake, Mr. Childers put over the idea that he hopes to make the lake more interesting. In addition to making it more interesting for the public to visit, he also will make every effort to give the public the very best service possible.

'Tis safest making peace with sword in hand. ---George Fuquhar.

An Average American Family Celebrates THANKSGIVING

Dad, standing there in front of that sixteen pound bird, is not a railroad president or a banker; he is a skilled workman in a factory and mighty proud of his job. Mother cooked the dinner singlehanded without maid or hired girl; but her kitchen is a marvel of efficiency, with a General Electric range, refrigerator, home freezer, dishwasher and other appliances. Jack, sitting next to Grandma, is home from the state university. We would be the last to say that there is no want or poverty in the United States, but more and more ordinary folks each year can look at a picture like this and say, "That's MY family!" That's what makes America. For this is an average family's idea of America and they mean to hold on to it. Kremlin please take notice.

Eagles Fly High; Edge Whirlwinds 25-21 in Last Tilt

Driving power won the Canyon Eagles a 25-21 victory over the speedy backfield of the Floydada Whirlwinds in the final game of the season at Wester Field in Floydada Friday night. It was big Red Ratliff who went on a touchdown spree to collect three touchdowns and an extra point. The other TD was made by Lynn Williams.

During the first minute of play Frank Stovall scored the first TD for Floydada. They converted to make the score 7-0 in their favor and kept the lead until midway of the final period when Ratliff ran 48 yards and converted to give the Eagles a 4 point lead, which they held at the end of the game.

In the second quarter Ratliff carried the ball 93 yards for a TD and then in the final period of play he lugged the pigskin some 48 yards for another touchdown. After the final touchdown Ratliff booted the extra point to run the Canyon score up to 25. It was the first time in the game that Canyon led the Whirlwinds.

The Eagles scored in every quarter of the game while the Floydada scores were limited to the first half. Floydada picked up the first touchdown very early in the game. They made two more during the second quarter with good conversions on every score.

At the end of the first period of the game which kept the attention of some 600 chilled fans, Floydada led the Eagles with a score of 7-6. In the second quarter they lengthened that lead to 21-12.

Once when it looked like Jackie Hutchinson was long gone for a Floydada score, he moved the ball 60 yards, Jimmy Montgomery came in from the side to make the tackle and stop the threat. In the second quarter of play Carmack looked for an opening that wasn't there and Don Gaylor knifed through to throw the Whirlwind back in a 5-yard loss.

The elusive speed of the Whirlwinds bogged down under the power of the Eagles during the second half of the game. Pete Donnel recovered a Whirlwind fumble during the final period of play. Then with less than two minutes of playing time left, the Whirlwinds got possession of the ball and took to the air in desperation. Three passes failed while the two that were completed gained them 39 yards. Lynn Williams intercepted their final pass and after one play the whistle blew to end the game with a score of 25 for the Eagles and 21 for the Whirlwinds.

Canyon made 17 first downs to Floydada's 12. Out of 17 passes the Eagles completed 6. Whirlwinds threw 14 passes, completing 5 and had 1 interception. Floydada fumbled 8 times and recovered 6. Canyon fumbled twice, recovered once. Floydada was penalized 30 yards; Eagles 35. Whirlwind passes were good for 128 yards; Eagles 85. Seven Whirlwind punts were good for 190 yards and three punts of the Eagles netted them 105 yards.

$636 PER PERSON

In the session which ended on October 20th, Congress approved Government spending which amounted to an average of $636 for every man, woman and child in the country. The final compilation showed that Congress voted $91,626,563,164, which does not include an estimated $7,000,000,000 in more or less permanent allotments which include such items as about $6,000,000,000 on the national debt. This is the third highest outlay in history, being exceeded by two World War II years.

Mrs. C. O. Keiser Died Thursday at Home in Amarillo

Mrs. Daniel Brier Keiser died Thursday evening at the apartments of her daughter, Mrs. Phyllis Keiser Stanfield where she has been seriously ill for several months. She was the widow of the late C. O. Keiser, pioneer land man and Hereford cattle breeder of Randall county. Mr. Keiser died in 1929.

The body was taken to Keota, Iowa, where it was buried by the side of her husband.

The Keiser family moved to Canyon in 1912 and owned the home now occupied by the J. W. Bourn family. Mr. Keiser started his land operations here in 1906, buying large tracts of land and running immigration trains from the North for the benefit of farmers who were seeking cheap land. He set the example by operating large farming interests and later embarked in the Hereford cattle business. At one time he was the largest individual Hereford registered cattle breeder in the nation.

Mrs. Keiser grew up in the newspaper business. She first met Mr. Keiser while employed in the weekly newspaper office at Keota. After their marriage and removal to Canyon, Mrs. Keiser was vice president of The Canyon News from 1912 when the firm was incorporated until 1920 when all of the stock was purchased by Clyde W. Warwick, who had been brought to Canyon in July 1910 by Mr. Keiser to be publisher of The News.

After the Keisers relinquished their interest in the paper, both Mr. and Mrs. Keiser were always vitally interested in the welfare of The News.

Their daughter was the wife of the late H. K. Stanfield, who represented the 123rd District in the Legislature for two terms starting in 1931.

During the lifetime of Mr. Keiser, A. W. Hamill, brother-in-law, was employed as his business manager. Following the death of Mr. Keiser and Mr. Hamill, Mrs. Hamill joined her daughter in Kingsville to make her home until her death. Her survivors are two sons, Keith of Newton, Iowa, and Hubert of Amarillo, in addition to the daughter who continues to live in Kingsville.

Mrs. Stanfield and son, H. K. Stanfield, Jr., student in the University of Texas, accompanied the body to Iowa for burial.

School in Norway Is No Snap, Asserts Former WT Student

You think you have exam troubles? Just listen to this!

"The last two days of a semester are 12 hour actual writing time examinations---they even serve coffee and supper!" That is what Jane Gallagher, 1950 WT graduate, is facing at the University of Oslo in Norway.

In a letter to Dr. Walter H. Juniper, Jane outlined her exam schedule as including on the first day: six hours of English grammar and two on composition; second day: 12 hours on Shakespeare and contemporaries; third day: Anglo-Saxon for six hours with a two hour oral examination given by four judges "and others permitted to ask questions."

For an examination in English that university requires knowledge of Anglo-Saxon, Middle-English, Shakespeare, Beowulf, Chaucer, Milton and ten other classical authors---"then add on eight modern writers and a fluent knowledge of at least four standard dictionaries."

Jane is taking graduate work at the Norway university with her major interests in English and education. She has written Dr. Juniper requesting teachers certificate for her work here. She wants them, as she says, "I may want to teach here, or possibly in England, and I will need said certificate to prove I am eligible to teach in Texas anyhow."

While at West Texas Jane was active in Speech department activities as well as in the English department.

Last summer she bicycled in Germany, Denmark and Holland, and has secured tickets to several winter sports contests of the Olympics.

Her address is Ekelyveien 12 Vinderen, Oslo, Norway.

President Truman is preparing to let Gen. Dwight Eisenhower step out of his job as Supreme Commander in Europe by early 1952 so that he can respond to the demand of friends that he become a receptive candidate for the presidential nomination. Mr. Truman will place no barriers in the General's way.

Gen. Matthew Ridgway, Supreme Commander in Japan, is being considered at the White House as successor to General Eisenhower in Europe.

The President's political moves being made, and to be made in months just ahead, are aimed at stopping Senator Robert Taft, candidate for the Republican presidential nomination. Mr. Truman will take Eisenhower, either as a Republican or a Democrat, as a means of stopping Taft.

Backers of General Eisenhower are uncertain about entering the Wisconsin primary for a popularity test against Senator Taft. There is some question about the General's popularity among German-American voters as a result of his early support of harsh peace terms for Germany.

General Eisenhower has told friends that he sees no alternative to some limited trade with the Russians. The Eisenhower viewpoint and that of the U. S. State Department continue to be very close on issues of foreign policy.

Contract Is Let In Austin for New Farm-Market Road

According to news dispatches from Austin, the State Highway Department has let the contract for construction of a farm-to-market road in Randall county for the amount of $58,227 to Cooper & Woodruff of Amarillo.

The number of the new construction will be Farm Road 1714, starting four miles south of Canyon and extending seven miles west. This is one of the heaviest traveled roads in Randall county, being covered by the rural route as well as the school bus.

The Commissioners Court tried to interest the State Highway Commission in extending this farm-to-market road to include the Buffalo Lake area, but was unsuccessful at this time.

Larger Cities Are Hopping On Parking Meter Band Box

Big cities are rapidly "wising-up" to the use of parking meters as a means of controlling use of scarce curb space, as well as a source of revenue for off-street parking facilities.

The American Municipal Association reports that most recent major cities to approve use of meters are Chicago and New York. Chicago has already begun installation of the first of its anticipated 15,000 meters. In New York, the city traffic commissioner recently requisitioned 1,500 of the parking-time regulators to be installed for a test run. Plans are for New York's meters to be in operation by mid-July.

Big cities are late-comers as meter users, the Association pointed out, for in late 1949 five major U. S. cities—Baltimore, Chicago, Milwaukee, New York and St. Louis—had no meters in use. Today, of the group, only Baltimore remains.

Milwaukee's first parking meter was installed in December, 1949, and by mid-May of this year 1,258 were in operation. Take from the meters in that period was $190,531. Average monthly collection from each meter has been running approximately $11. St. Louis' first group of 300 to 400 meters went in operation in April and May. Eventually, St. Louis will have 5,000 parking regulators in place.

Chicago hopes, through use of meters, not only to allow every shopper-driver a fair share of curb space, but also to speed traffic and to cut congestion. Some curb space is being reserved for unloading zones, thus eliminating the double parking of trucks and the consequent tie-up of traffic. Then too, each curb parking space is being made between 22 and 24 feet in length in hopes of eliminating the usual jockeying and backing up in parking that causes street congestion. Average car length is 18 feet.

New York's initial installation will be in shopping centers in the boroughs of Queens, Brooklyn, and the Bronx, as well as on the lower east side of Manhattan and in upper Manhattan around 125th Street. The fee for use of the meter is set at 10 cents. The time limit is set at an hour in all locations except in Queens.

Lightweight Rubber-Canvas Boat Reported 'Unsinkable'

A folding boat said to be unsinkable is the latest item to go on the market for sportsmen.

A two-seater model, the boat weighs only 56 pounds complete with sails, paddles, and leeboards. The fabric for the boat is constructed from a combination of canvas and rubber, and its collapsible frame is made of seasoned mountain ash.

Popular Mechanics magazine reports that the folding boat is unsinkable even if it is completely filled with water because of two air-filled tubes wrapped around the hull at the gunwales.

The boat comes apart to form two compact bundles that can be carried by one person and which will fit into a car trunk. It is said that the portable boat can be assembled in less than 15 minutes.

Looking Ahead

The Early Germans had specialists in divining the future from the cries and flights of birds and from the neighings and snortings of white horses which were kept in sacred groves or coppices by a priset or king with an eye for business. The Mayans had their bird-and-jaguarmen and the Toltecs their priests and sorcerers with tattooed bodies—all of them rich in worldly goods, including magnificent feather headdresses, capes, and ornaments. With a fitfy-fifty chance of being right, fortune-tellers down through the ages have been credited with certain historic predictions. One of the most dramatic of these was that of a soothsayer who appeared suddenly and mysteriously to announce the end of his empire to the powerful Aztec king, Montezuma. Shortly afterward, an army led by the Spanish explorer, Hernando Cortez, conquered Mexico and with it, the Aztec Empire.

Lions Attack—With Paint

In line with their program of good works, the members of the Lions Club have completed a painting project on the exterior of the Country Home for Convalescent Children at Washington. Although the Home is supported by the Community Chest, there are just "not enough funds to do much fixing up," according to J. F. Crowell, president of the club. Overalled business and professional men worked under the direction of a member Lion who is a painting contractor. While convalescent children watched through the windows with great interest, the drab exterior was given a gleaming new coat of white paint. The decorating of the interior is also on the Lions' program.

Moon Trip

According to one authoritative work ("Rockets," by Willy Ley), a Rocket trip to the moon would take about 94 hours. At first the rocket would move along a path which forms part of a long ellipse around the Earth, while the last part of the trip would follow a section of an ellipse about the Moon.

German veterans have organized as a new political force.

SHORT SHORT STORY

Man Of Mystery

By Lula W. Kellems

3-Minute Fiction

AT 3:30 Eddie House called his wife from the office. "Know what I've been thinking about, angel—? Herring! My mouth's simply drooling. What's for supper—?"

"Your favorite menu, supper special . . . "

Eddie groaned, "That's too elaborate, baby. I only want herring. Just herring . . . Evelyn—! are you listening?

There was silence, then a click in his ear. There was wifely understanding! And just because a man got a hankering for herring!

Soon, however, he grinned. She'd have the herring, all right. That was Evelyn's way, flying off the handle, then after consideration, humoring him.

He had gone to work by bus that morning because Evelyn needed the car for some special shopping, she said. To be sure of a healthy appetite for the herring, he decided to walk home.

Pausing when he reached his own back door, Eddie clocked his hike, proud of the four minutes clipped from last trip's walking time. His hand, carefully replacing his watch, touched a small square of folded paper in his pocket. He drew it out, opened it and read: "Anniversary gift for Evelyn . . . "

Their first anniversary! How could he have forgotten? Days ago he had scribbled down this reminder, to be sure.

Furtively he glanced at the high kitchen windows. There stood Evelyn, her head and her soulders framed in glass like she were a beautiful portrait. She was working at the sink and she was crying!

Eddie felt like a heel. No wonder she had used the car to shop, and had fixed his favorite menu. She had remembered, while he—he had requested herring for supper!

He watched Evelyn sniffle and blink tears. He stood on the stoop, considering. If he went home with a gift, he might convince her the herring was a gag.

All the stores would be closed by now—unless Old Jan, the jeweler, was still tinkering in his shop.

BECAUSE EDDIE thought Evelyn might miss the car if he took it, he walked to the nearest drugstore and phoned for a cab. Thirteen minutes passed before it came.

"Hurry!" begged Eddie. "Jan might remember to close on time." Jan had closed on time. He returned slowly to the cab.

"Flowers are always appreciated," suggested the driver.

"That's an idea!"

They drove to Marley's Flower Shoppe—and found it locked. He just had to find something! He couldn't go home empty-handed and face a weeping wife.

He was moping toward the cab when inspiration hit him. "Hanfel, the furrier! My business neighbor! He'll come and open up for me."

"Wait twenty minutes," Hanfel said when Eddie called. "We're eating. I got herring, yet."

Herring! Eddie moaned. He said, "I'll wait."

He waited forty-five minutes before Hanfel drove up. "I want a mink, size nine."

Evelyn squeeled with delight when she saw the coat. "You're the best husband a girl ever had, darling."

"A size nine mink, I don't have. I got a Russia Fitch jacket, size nine."

"Wrap it up," Eddie said, resigned.

With a good fur sale transacted and gorged on herring, Hanfel felt good. "I'll drive you home, Eddie. Your wife's going to think she's got a wonderful man of memory!"

Evelyn must have been watching for him. She met him at the door. "Anything wrong, Eddie—?"

Inside, Eddie proudly displayed the Russian Fitch jacket. "It's a special day, honey—remember—?"

Evelyn squealed with delight and kissed him. "You're the best husband a girl ever had, darling. And I was afraid you'd forgotten our anniversary—imagine!" She seemed scared suddenly. "Eddie—! You were kidding about the herring—!"

Eddie held her close. "Certainly not, baby! Next to you, I love herring best."

"Oh honey—! You're worth all the smelly old herring in the world . . . Only, Eddie—remind me to look through my household hints for some method of peeling onions that always go with herring—so they won't make me cry . . . "

Price rise in meat is expected on promised "rollback" date.

THANKSGIVING . . .

Now let us thank the Eternal Power; convinced
That Heaven but tries our virtue by affliction,
That oft the cloud which wraps the present
hour
Serves but to brighten all our future days.
— John Brown, 1715 — 1766

Abraham Lincoln, who spoke four score and seven years ago last week at Gettysburg, Pennsylvania, was the first President to fix Thanksgiving Day by proclamation. He did so in the midst of a great struggle that was to determine that a nation could not endure half slave and half free. Today, with all human society taking sides in such a struggle, let us with Lincoln thank God that we are privileged in our time to help free mankind; let us with Lincoln "have faith that right makes might; and in that faith let us dare to do our duty as we understand it."

Black Hills Still Remember Rip-Roaring Gold Rush Days

The last action-packed chapters of American frontier history were written just 75 years ago in the Black Hills of South Dakota.

It was the rip-roaring gold rush of 1876 that made the Black Hills the final dream of every adventurer The search for precious, shining nuggets drew gunmen, miners, card sharks, college professors, doctors, merchants, dance hall girls and plain citizens to this last outpost.

Today, tourists and visitors from every section of the country visit this glamorous vacation mecca to relive that turbulent period of Americana.

Seventy-five years ago, a short time as history goes, Wild Bill Hickok, Calamity Jane, Preacher Smith, Deadwood Dick, Poker Alice and the Sioux Chieftian Crazy Horse were the main characters in a flaming real life western drama. Modern visitors sense a vicarious thrill in reliving those events that have since been glamorized in movies and dime novels.

This year is the Diamond Anniversary of such events as: the murder of Wild Bill Hickok, prince of the Pistoleers, who was shot as he held the famous deadman's poker hand—aces and eights; the first pony express mail service into the Black Hills (cost $1 a letter); the laying out of Rapid City, now South Dakota's second largest city; the Battle of the Little Big Horn where General George A. Custer's forces were wiped out by the Sioux Indians; chartering of the famous Ft. Pierre trail; the last gold rush into Deadwood gulch; the location of the first Homestake claim which was later to develop into the largest gold mine in North America; and the fatal ambush of Preacher Smith by the Indians between Deadwood and Crook City.

In historic celebrations and pageants, traveling America will be treated to the observance of these historic events in the Black Hills this summer. A solid granite statue of Hickok, the law enforcement officer, will be unveiled in Deadwood and diamond jubilee celebrations at Rapid City and Deadwood and the observance of the occasion of the Custer Battle in nearby Wyoming and Montana will mark another milestone in the progressive history of the West.

Light Modern Furniture May Be Adapted to Dark Pieces

The homemaker often worries about what to do with old, still useable pieces of dark furniture when she buys new light modern pieces. This is not as great a problem as we often make it, says Kathryne McNey, Extension Service home furnishings specilaist, Colorado A & M College.

Many old pieces have simple, beautiful lines which can be easily combined with the clean-cut lines of contemporary furniture. In fact, the pieces may actually compliment each other if they are used with an eye to the arrangement of the room. Combine them with thought for value and color relationships to the whole room.

You may ask: Can I mix light and dark woods? The answer is "of course". Light and dark woods can be successfully combined with happy results. However, it is wise to let either the light or dark furniture predominate, using just one or two pieces in the contrasting wood. In this way you can create a focal point for the room by arranging the light and dark woods together to achieve an effect, says Miss McNey.

The important factor to be considered is scale. Combine pieces so that the room does not look cluttered and so that no one piece is so large that the other pieces look dwarfed. For instance, a large upholstered period chair might be covered in a subdued solid color—from the multicolored draperies or rug—to minimize the size and to make it fit better with the modern light and airy-looking occasional chairs.

Sugar-less Sweetness

Has the doctor ordered you to "cut out sweets" while getting your weight under control? And do you still want to eat those tempting sweet desserts? Now you can do both. By the simple expedient of using saccharin instead of sugar you can enjoy such mouth-watering desserts as Lemon Snowdrift or Bavarian Cream with no worry about the calories. Saccharin, the product of chemical laboratories, is a powerful sweetener—about 400 times as sweet as sugar—yet it has no food value. Long a boon to diabetics who otherwise would have to be content with unsweetened coffee and tea, saccharin is equally effective in weight control.

Cow Protection

If proper steps are taken when signs of mastitis first show up in the strip cup, a cow's affected quarter can be saved, clean cows will not be infected, and quality of milk will remain good. Farmers should watch for any sign of infection at each milking. Avoid possibility of spreading infection to other quarters. Hot and cold applications may be helpful. In recent years some of the sulfa drugs have been found effective in mastitis control. More recently, injections of penicillin have cured a large percentage of mastitis cases. However, when these methods are used, treatment should be made by a skilled veterinarian.

Bevan would use economics, not arms, against Moscow.

Perfect Agreement

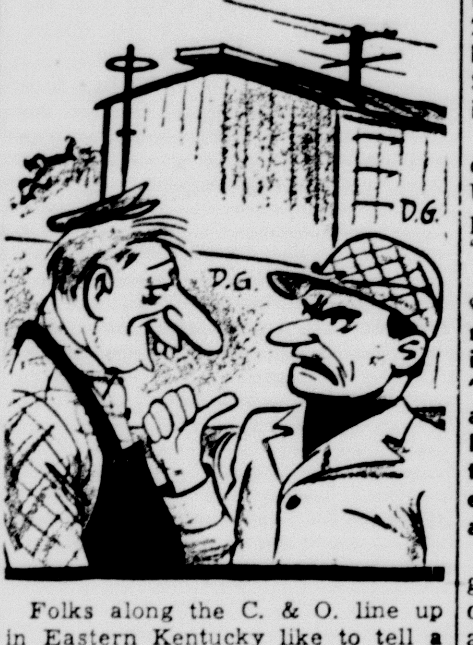
A well-know judge once had a case before him in which the plaintiff was represented by a very nervous young barrister. When the barrister rose to begin his address to the jury, he stammered, "My unfortunate client—" and there he stuck. He tried again and in a shaking voice he managed to say, "My unfortunate client—" but he could get no further. Clearing his throat, he quavered for the third time, "My unfortunate client—." Again his voice failed.

"Come, come," interrupted the judge, "proceed with your address. So far the court agrees with you."

Dilemma!

Some kids were having a party and they decided to play postoffice. The first little boy and girl went into the closet and didn't come out. The other kids called to them to come out immediately. "We can't," came a muffled reply. "We have our braces hooked!"

D. L. (DON'T, DO LAUGH)



Folks along the C. & O. line up in Eastern Kentucky like to tell a story about a rather dense character who once worked briefly for the line.

This man's job was to do nothing more than check on all cars as they entered the yard and to check those which needed repairs of one kind or another. Those marked for repairs later would be switched over to the shop, the others sent out to pick up freight.

Well, after this character had been on the job one day, the switch crew went out to pick up the cars. However, the crew found every car had "DG" freshly chalked on the side.

"How in the world can I tell the O.K. cars from the bad ones?" the crew chief stormed. "And what in blazes does 'DG' mean?"

"Guess I made a slight mistake," the guy apologized "'DG' means 'Do Go' and 'Don't Go!'"

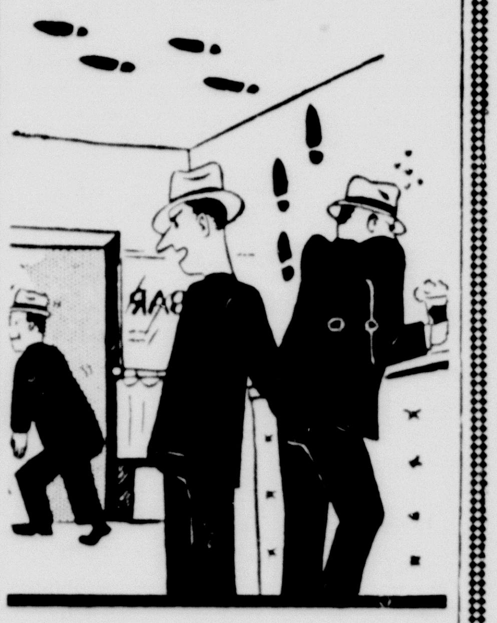
Fooled Again

Bob—"I'm getting stronger."

Helen—"How do you know?"

Bob—"Because a few years ago I couldn't carry ten dollars' worth of groceries and now it's easy."

HOW INCONSIDERATE!



They were having just one more at the bar when an old friend, previously quite normal, walked through the door, up the wall, across the ceiling and down the other wall. There was a moment of stunned silence, then: "What do you know about that!" one drinker exclaimed to the other. "He didn't even speak to us!"

Clean Kid

Removing finger smudges from the doors in the house, Mother asked, "Ann, are your hands dirty? Did you put them on the doors?"

"Oh, no," replied Ann. "Those can't be my finger marks—I always kick the doors open!"

DIDN'T PLAY

Hostess: "Did that rude husband of mine ask you not to play?"

Musical Guest: "Oh, no, Mrs. Jones, he only asked me not to play a certain tune."

Hostess: "What was it he said?"

Guest: "He said not to play 'For the Love of Pete.'"

Family Mixup

Two Hollywood youngsters were talking as they walked home from school. "I've got two little brothers and one sister," boasted one. "How many do you have?"

"I don't have any brothers and sisters," answered the second lad, "but I do have five papas by my first mama and three mamas by my first papa."

Tolliver to Attend Houston Meeting

Texas Speech Association will hold their annual convention in Houston on November 23 and 24. Crannell Tolliver, head of the WT Speech Department, is the executive secretary and is in charge of membership campaign and other details of the convention. The convention will be held at the same time as the Texas State Teachers Association convention.

Registration for the convention will begin at 9 o'clock, November 23 at the Texas State Hotel, and will run through the 24th. Tolliver is to be in Houston November 22 to attend an executive council meeting. The Texas State Hotel will be the headquarters for the convention.

Sectional meetings representing every field of interest in speech and the annual luncheon will be the schedule for Friday, November 23. Speaker for the luncheon will be Morgan Hudgins of the MGM Studios and his topic will be "Movies and the Theatre."

Friday night members of the convention will be guests of the University of Houston Speech Department at a performance of "Naughty Marieta."

Two other plays will be presented at the time the convention meets that will probably be of interest to the members; they are, "Thunder Rock" at the Alley Theatre and "The Importance of Being Ernest" at "The Playhouse theatre." "The Playhouse" is the newest and finest of the professional arena type theatres," Tolliver said.

Saturday, November 24, the program will be principally made up of work shops in speech correction and dramatics.

Other officers of the association are, President, Mrs. N. N. Whitworth of Amarillo High School, Vice President, Dr. Harold Weiss of Southern Methodist University, and Editor-Historian, Arthur R. Hayes of the University of Texas.

ATOMIC ENERGY

The Navy has announced plans for atomic-powered submarines and the Air Force is also said to be working on atomic-powered aircraft. These developments indicate that the use of atomic energy for power, as well as for bombs, is in the immediate future.

Buffs Play Amjets In First Cage Tilt

First game of the 1951 basketball season will be November 30, with the Miller-coached Buffs pitted against the Miller-coached Amarillo Air Force Base Amjets in the new Physical Education building.

This father-son rivalry sends former Buffalo Bill Miller against Gus Miller, head WT basketball coach and director of athletics.

Although actually the second game to be played in the new building, dedication will be December 3 with the Herd going against Phillips 66 Oilers in the main event and a battle between Borger High and Tucumcari, N. M., High in preliminaries.

Students will be seated on the south side of the gym beginning at floor level on the collapsible seats. Entrance to games will be through the main entrance and out onto the floor through the south general admission door.

Lions Have Double Program at Weekly Lunch Wednesday

The Lions enjoyed a double program Wednesday. The tricks of a Master Magician gave the Lions several minutes of breath-taking thrills during the first part of the program. The tricks were performed by Harvey Gaddis, guest of Bob Collinsworth.

Gaddis tied hard knots in handkerchiefs and then removed them with a simple twist-of-the-wrist. He held up a cigar, took away three cigars and still had the original cigar left. He poked a cigar into his ear and removed it from his mouth.

But his best trick was performed with a deck of cards. He held them face down while Dr. W. J. Wooten removed one from the deck. Without looking at the card, Gaddis put it back in the deck, placed a rubber band about the cards, wrapped them in a magazine cover and finally in a handkerchief and when this was all done, he produced the card Dr. Wooten had removed and replaced in the deck.

Dr. Dudley Moore took the floor for the serious part of the program and explained the need for the community blood bank in Amarillo.

He explained that this blood would not necessarily come from the Canyon area. People in other parts of the county will be invited to donate blood. At present there are 24 pints of blood in the bank and it is hoped that a total of 50 pints can be kept there at all times.

Dr. Moore explained that the community blood bank would relieve a great deal of financial pressure on people from Randall County when they need a transfusion. The blood will also be rushed to Neblett Hospital when an emergency arises that calls for it. Without this supply of blood in the blood bank, anyone needing a pint of blood would have to pay $25.00 for the blood, a $12.50 service charge and an additional fee of $2.00 or $3.00 for blood typing and laboratory work. This would total some $40.00 for a pint of blood. When the blood bank is in operation the only charge will be the typing and laboratory fee which is very small.

Dr. Moore also explained that a person would be able to get a pint of blood by way of transfusion when that person will be physically able to give two pints of blood later for each one pint received during the emergency period.

About 120 pints of blood will be required annually to keep the community blood bank operating, explained Dr. Moore. The use of the blood is not restricted to local areas nor to the Amarillo hospitals. It will be stored there because there are no facilities for storing it in Canyon. When needed it will be rushed to Neblett Hospital for use.

The Lions also welcomed four visitors, Ross Wilson, H. H. Gaddis, Carroll Dosher, and Jim Coon. In addition to the visitors the special event was the initiation of Charlie Donnell as the club's new member. Lion Gene Davis was instrumental in bringing Donnell into the club.

County Treasurer Has Job of Detail And Responsibility

Last January 1st, Mrs. Ruth Hill took the responsibilities of the duties of County Treasurer of Randall County. Formerly a newspaper woman who has worked with the Happy Herald, The Canyon News and the Amarillo Globe, Mrs. Hill says that she enjoys her work with the county very much. Even those duties that are packed with the kind of detail that sends a person home at night with an aching head are a great satisfaction to Mrs. Hill, especially when they are completed.

It is the job of the County Treasurer to keep the books straight and sort of be a mother to the county's financial affairs. There are many bills to be paid. There is a jury fund that must be kept in order to pay the jurors in court trials requiring juries.

Commissioners from each of the four precincts must be paid by the County Treasurer. There is also a road and bridge fund in each of these precincts and this fund must be kept straight. There is the expense and upkeep of the courthouse and jail, the sheriff and other county employees must be paid through the County Treasurer.

In addition to these duties there is a general fund to take care of various expenses. There is also a cemetery fund for the general expense of keeping up the cemetery. All of these duties must be performed by the County Treasurer.

The importance of keeping accurate figures on the financial transactions of the county cannot be overstressed. Every detail, every single penny, must be accurately accounted for. The accuracy and detail of the job are the responsibilities of the County Treasurer.

NARCOTICS

Congress has passed and President Truman has signed a bill giving the Government a tighter grip on the dispensation of dangerous drugs. Classified as "dangerous" were: Barbiturates, (used in some sleeping pills) benzedrine and dexedren (anti-fatigue drugs); sulpha drugs and antibiotics, thyroid extract (used for reducing), and male and female sex harmones.

Frank McKinney, new Chairman of the Democratic Party, figures that he's taken the issue of tax fixing out of the 1952 political campaign by getting the President to propose that top tax collectors be put under Civil Service. The trouble is that Congress doesn't intend to let up on its investigation of what's been going on.

New Plans Made By Jr. Livestock Association

The Randall County Jr. Livestock Association is busy starting another year of activities which aims at greater progress for the organization. In a meeting in Loyd Devin's office at Canyon High School Thursday night, the committees for the coming year were appointed.

Officers who met in Mr. Devin's office for the purpose of appointing the committees for the coming year were Harley Burrus, E. M. Myers, J. O. Parker, Milton Morris, Loyd Devin and Waylon Carroll. The committees for various activities for the coming year were selected and a general discussion of the future activities took place.

The organization is planning a new building for its members to show their stock in. Additional plans are also being made for additional county activities in which members of the organization will have the opportunity of showing the stock they raise.

Mr. Myers, secretary-treasurer of the organization, says that building plans are beginning to take shape. Plans and literature was looked over and discussed at the Thursday night meeting and those present have a greater idea about what kind of building the organization needs.

The high achievements of the members of the Randall County Jr. Livestock Association in the past is a good indication that better things are possible for the future, the directors and officers believe. It is with this thought in mind that they are making every effort possible to get a building in which to show the stock and to get it as quickly as possible.

Duck That's Not a Duck; India's Bombay Du—, Fish

When is a duck not a duck? The answer is easy: When it's a Bombay duck, for that makes it a fish.

The Bombay duck—for which India is now reported to be seeking new export markets in the United States and Canada—is a member of the fish family Synodontidae.

This family is otherwise known as the lizard fishes—to bring in still other creatures, and make the layman's chances of mistaken identity even greater. Such fishes are characterized by scaly lizardlike heads, and wide-gaping mouths lined with rows of sharp, pointed teeth.

The name "Bombay duck" applies to the dried and salted food product, esteemed as an Indian delicacy, rather than to the fish itself, which belongs to the species Harpodon nehereus within the family Synodontidae.

Just how the Bombay-duck term came about is obscure; but it is significant that this dried fish was long exported from Bombay and west India's Malabar Coast. Other names are bummaloe or bammelo fish, sometimes used to designate the fresh fish.

The Harpodon is taken in varying quantities along both the eastern and western shores of the Indian peninsula, as well as off Burma. It is found not only in the open sea, but also in many of the rivers and estuaries of the warm Indian Ocean region.

The first report of the species, then given another name, followed its discovery in 1815 in the mouths of the Ganges.

Fish-Eating Bats Captured In Gulf of California

Specimens of the bizarre fish-eating bat Pizonyx, one of the least known of North American mammals, have been added to the Smithsonian Institution mammal collections as a gift from the National Geographic Society.

They were collected in the Gulf of California by Lewis Wayne Walker. They are confined to small islands in this gulf and seem to live entirely upon small fish which they catch by gliding low over the water.

It is supposed that the fish are caught in their hind claws, which are very long, thin, and bladelike. With these claws they scoop up the fish.

It is quite doubtful, Smithsonian mammalogists say, that the bat actually dives for its prey, although at times its body may be pretty well immersed.

Some other bats are also known to be fish eaters. They have developed the ability to land on the surface of water and take off again, an extremely difficult undertaking. This creature, however, had adapted itself to an almost completely fish-eating existence.

It is seldom seen, since it lives among the rocks of small, uninhabited islands which are rarely visited by hunters or collectors.

Radio Waves

Near a transmitter radio waves travel directly to the receiver antenna, but farther away these "ground waves" are intercepted by the curvature of the Earth. At a height of 30 to 250 miles there is a region called the ionosphere which bends the waves down again, and so carries them around the Earth. The very short waves used in television are not ordinarily affected, and that is why they do not carry much farther from the transmitter than one can see. The ionosphere has several layers, made of atoms partially broken or ionized, mainly by the Sun's radiation. The heights of these layers, and their relative effectiveness, vary between night and day and also from on season to another, so this affects long-distance radio transmission. Some frequencies are transmitted better at night, while others are most effective in the daytime.

Not Always Best

While United States Army troops in Korea have a variety of standardized multiple rocket launchers on hand, they have made little use of them. If it is desired to put over a very large volume of firepower very suddenly for a short period only, the rocket has a distinct advantage over heavier guns. On the other hand, if the fire is to be continued for a considerable time, the rocket is very uneconomical. In a manner of speaking, every time a gunner shoots a rocket, he also shoots away his gun. On a pound-for-pound basis, the gun can outstrip the rocket because the gun, in a short while, can shoot up its own weight in ammunition.

Appetite Factor

In its food research program, the Army has found that environmental factors have an important bearing on a soldier's attitude towards food. These environmental factors include climate, topography, and conditions of assault, support, and survival. The sights, din and odors of battle are likely to affect the soldier's willingness to eat certain kinds of food and cause his inability to eat others. So also are the stresses of anxiety, fear, monotony and fatigue. As a result, experiments are being made in various cooperating research laboratories by feeding animals under conditions of excitement and stress.

James Byrnes, Governor of South Carolina, former Senator and former Supreme Court Justice, is No. 1 strategist for Southern Democrats in their effort to regain power in the Democratic Party. Southerners are determined to change the rules that govern the party even if, in the process, they help to put a Republican in the White House after 1952.

White House sources say that President Truman will demand his whole "Fair Deal" from Congress when it comes back next January. The President is pictured as unwilling to back up on any issue, from state medicine to federal policing of civil rights, even if he knows that Congress will balk at it all.

The White House is cool to hints from Great Britain that Mr. Truman should take the initiative in proposing a new program of aid to the British. The President believes that Prime Minister Churchill should take the initiative in asking.

Lord, We Give Thee Thanks...

"The American seeks no special intercession in giving thanks; he thanks God on this day out of the fullness of his heart."

We give thanks that mankind, under Divine guidance, continues to prosper . . . that despite war and tyranny in his midst man remembers the sick and the afflicted and is good to them . . . that he toils to learn compassion and love. We give thanks that all man's worldly achievements have not caused him to lose sight of the goodness of the Lord . . . and that in the midst of pride and power as in the midst of desolation, he looks not at his own works or image but to the Lord whence cometh his inspiration and his strength.

Narcotics charges were filed early this week against an elderly Latin-American woman who was arrested Saturday. Bond has been set at $2,000., said Sheriff Cantrell. A drunk charge, in addition to the narcotics charge, was also lodged against the woman.

The woman was arrested Saturday morning and a tobacco can filled with marijuana was found in her possession. She was taken to Amarillo and placed in jail there. According to the authorities, the woman was so intoxicated that she could not talk coherently when she was arrested.

Governor Allan Shivers

Main speaker at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, January 15, will be Governor Allan Shivers. The invitation, which was extended last summer, has been accepted and the Chamber of Commerce is now working on plans for a suitable program. The letter from the executive department did not give any hint of the subject upon which the governor would speak, but the letter did say the governor was looking forward to addressing the group during the evening.

Letter from Austin Confirms Governors Presence January 15

The presence of Governor Allan Shivers at the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet, January 15, was assured again last week when the Chamber of Commerce received a letter from the executive department at Austin. It also pointed out that the governor would make an address during the course of the evening that he is here.

The letter was written November 15, by Garland Smith of the Executive Department at Austin. Addressed to Cecil Massey, the letter states, "Governor Shivers is looking forward to being with you next January 15, and to making an address to your organization. At this time we do not know the exact time of arrival, but I shall advise you several days beforehand." The letter is signed by Garland Smith, Administrative Assistant, and is written on official state stationery from the executive department at Austin.

The invitation to the Governor was extended during the summer months. His acceptance first came by way of a telephone call, the letter being the latest communication with the Governor.

Judgment Is Given Collapse Of Elevator

A judgment totaling $144,504.50 was awarded the Happy Elevator Company by a federal district court jury in Amarillo Saturday. The suit was filed as result of the collapse of Happy Elevator No. 2 on two separate occasions.

Judgment sought was $269,389.-25.

The suit began Monday morning with Judge Joe B. Dooley presiding. The suit went to the jury Thursday afternoon.

Judge Dooley commented that the jury was out the longest and worked the hardest of any jury he had charged in a long time. He also praised the jury for its careful preparation of its answers to 27 special issues. Clinton Evans of Pampa was jury foreman.

The elevator company sought damages resulting from property loss when the elevator collapsed on Oct. 19, 1949, and again on Nov. 7, 1950.

The jury found against the Caledonia Insurance Company, in connection with the first collapse and set damages at $40,524.50. The jury found against the Osage Construction Company of Oklahoma in the second collapse and set damage at $90,180.

The Wilder Construction Company was exonerated in a $13,800 judgment returned in connection with the first collapse, after the damage had been set at that amount.

The Happy Elevator Company is owned by D. D. "Pete" Whitlow of Happy and J. O. Parker of Canyon.

CORRECTION

Two errors were made in last week's story on the blood which is to be stored in the Potter County Blood Bank in Amarillo. The blood is primarily for the use of Randall County patients in the Neblett Hospital as well as other hospitals. The blood will be stored in the Potter County Blood Bank because there are no other adequate storage facilities in the area.

The other error cropped up in the story where is stated that the Chamber of Commerce was promoting the drive for blood. The program is being promoted by the Canyon Community Recreational Program.

During the entire season the Bobcats have rolled up a total of 339 points while holding their foes down to 64. The Canadian team has gathered 281 points while allowing their foes to collect 86.

Bedink - Rickwartz Vows Solemnized In Impressive Ceremony at Umbarger

On November 13, 8:30 o'clock in the morning, the St. Mary's Church of Umbarger was the scene for the marriage of Georgann Bedink and Joe Rickwartz before the nuptial high mass with Father Andrew Marthaler officiating.

After the service, the Sodality presented the bride with a statue of the Blessed Virgin at which time the bride gave her a rose from her bouquet and recited the little office.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John Bedink and the bridegroom is the son of Mr. Clem Rickwartz.

High mass was sung by the Senior Choir with Miss Mary Janssen as organist.

The altar was decorated with bouquets of white and yellow mums and lighted candelabra.

The Prie Dieu used by the couple was covered with white velvet touched off with pastel green ribbons.

Attending the bride was Miss Christina Friemel, bridesmaid, cousin of the bride, and Miss O'tellia Fischbacker, maid of honor. They were attired in formal gowns made of pastel green silk satin and covered with net. Their identical headdresses were of net and lace made into a halo. They carried bouquets of yellow and white mums.

Attending the bridegroom were Conrad Rickwartz, brother of the groom, and Robert Brockman. Ushers were Alen Brockman and Vincent Romaker. Mass servers were Correl Lindermann and Louie Raef.

The bride, accompanied to the altar by the groom, wore a white brocade satin gown made in princess style, gathered at the waist with skirt tapering into a chapel train. At the neck, the baby doll collar touched with imported lace was the feature attraction. The long sleeves came to pedal points at the palm of the hands with a row of tiny white buttons. She carried a Prayer Book of mother of pearl on which was attached her corsage of white rosebuds with streamers of white satin ribbon and knotted rosettes.

The bride's mother chose as her apparel for her daughter's wedding a black sâtin crepe dress with black and gold accessories. She wore a corsage of white carnations.

After the services, the bridal party had breakfast in the home of Mrs. Joe Wieck, sister of the bride. The table was laid in the bride's chosen colors with a miniature bride and groom. A white linen cloth covered the table.

The wedding dinner was served in the home of the bride's parents. A reception was held in the home of the bride's parents in the afternoon. In the evening a dance was given in honor of the couple in the Parish' Hall. Music was furnished by Clyde Miller and his band of Clovis, New Mexico.

Mrs. Rickwartz is a graduate of Sacred Heart Academy of Wichita, Kansas, and the groom is a graduate of Happy High School. Mr. and Mrs. Rickwartz are members of the children of Mary Sodality of St. Mary's Parish.

The couple left on a wedding trip to various parts of the States. Upon their return, they will make their home on a farm near Amarillo.

Local Lodge To Celebrate 60th Birthday, Dec. 11

The 60th anniversary of Canyon City Lodge number 730, A. F. & A. M. of Canyon will be celebrated December 11. At 7:30 p. m. the Brethern are requested to be present at the Lodge Hall for the purpose of the celebration. In addition, an interesting program has been arranged.

The Lodge has been in continuous operation for 60 years and the W. M. feels that the Brethern should get together in commemoration of the events of its birthday.

A special honor is planned for Masons who have been members of the Masonic order for 40 years or more. Any Master Mason who has a Masonic friend who has been a member for 40 years or longer is urged to have that friend at the 60th anniversary celebration.

Common Colds Are On Increase for the Winter Season

"At this time of the year health officers and practicing physicians always expect an increase in the common cold," Dr. Geo. W. Cox, State Health Officer, reminds residents of Texas. "Although good personal hygiene, adequate sleep, suitable clothing, moderate exercise and good nutrition may help the individual to develop resistance to infections, colds frequently develop in spite of all normal precautions. The seasonal rise in colds and other respiratory diseases during the fall and winter months certainly suggests that the shift to cooler weather is partly responsible for their prevalence.

"The unhappy victim of a cold should make every effort to prevent spreading the infection to others. He can help by covering coughs and sneezes with a disposable paper handkerchief, by staying out of crowds and avoiding close contact with others — especially invalids, young children and old people. Evidence indicates that colds are readily transmitted from person to person.

"For his own sake the patient should rest as much as possible in order to help his body to fight the cold. If there is any fever it is advisable to go to bed and stay there. There is some question as to the effectiveness of the large quantities of water and fruit juices generally recommended in the past, but they can do no harm and may help to some extent.

"If a cold persists for several days the patient should by all means consult his family physician, especially if there is an accompanying fever. Although, as is generally known, there is no specific cure for the common cold the doctor can prescribe medicine that will afford safe relief. Consulting the physician is strongly advised, also, because a number of communicable diseases have early symptoms similar to those of the cold and only a doctor can decide whether the patient has a simple cold or some more serious disease."

THANKSGIVING

Approaching another Thanksgiving Day, it is fitting that we remind each other of our heritage as a people and a nation.

In the autumn of 1621, the Pilgrims who had survived the famine and privations of the New World set aside a day on which they thanked God for their harvest. It was not until 1863, when President George Washington proclaimed it a national holiday that it was celebrated by all people.

While the day itself celebrates the end of harvest season, it has come to mean much more in the lives and consciences of all Americans. It celebrates each year of greater harvest — the harvest of good that comes to us as American citizens from those who have lived before us. It commemorates those who planted the seeds of this great nation and those who continued to build it.

We remember, too, those who died for our country that it might remain. Facing the coming year, we renew our hope and reaffirm our faith in God and our country; thankful for the many privileges He has bestowed upon us. This year, don't let Thanksgiving Day pass by without counting your blessings and being humble and thankful for them.

DECENCY VS. GOSSIP

Not so long ago gossip columns were accepted as a usual part of the school paper, but with the progress of school journalism, gossip columns have come into comparative disrepute. The school papers are becoming more and more advanced and are leaving the gossip column behind.

Below, are listed a few reasons for not having a gossip column:

1. The gossip column hurts many peoples feelings, and may also be very embarrassing to the student about whom you are writing.
2. The gossip writer may tread on the wrong toes and produce angry readers.
3. The paper goes home to the parents and seeing their children's names in the paper linked with students who they have strictly forbidden them to associate with may cause unhappiness in the student's home.
4. Carelessness is a real threat to the paper. It can change a bit of would-be into something indecent and vulgar.
5. Spitefulness. Often the columnist will have a few personal axes to grind and it is human nature for them to grind them in the gossip column.

The emphasis in the foregoing points has been on the fact that a gossip column works to the disadvantage of the paper.

S. F. C. Plans Aims And Improvement

Projects to be undertaken by the Student Faculty Congress this year were presented last week in an assembly by Anna Lou Samuelson, secretary, and John Miller, vice-president. A suggestion box has been provided for the students to give their ideas for improvements of Canyon High School.

School beautification is one of the more important projects to be undertaken. Fire drills will be continued with Tom Middleton, junior, as fire chief; George Dowlen, senior, third floor captain; Arlen Ruthart, sophomore, second floor captain; and Dick Dawdy in charge of the annexes.

Freshman orientation and the school picnic will also be observed this year. Jimmy Cornette, president of S. F. C., will appoint a welcoming committee as the need arises.

Winston Churchill is to find President Truman wary of any grand plan to try to do business with Joseph Stalin. Mr. Truman does not forget the burning he got at Potsdam when doing business with the Russians.

Eagles-Hornets District Champs

Norman Tucek

. . . . Winner

* * * *

Tucek Is Three Time Winner

Norman Tucek and Lady Luck must have gotten together this year because good fortune is smiling on him.

Norman was chosen as attendant for the sophomore Princess of Halloween. As escort for the Queen, Wilda Faye Pitt, Norman became King.

His Poland China pigs have won many honors. At the Dallas State Fair he came home with a first on pen of three and a second and seventh in the single class. Norman won the Grand Champion award on a Poland China barrow at the Tri-State Fair.

The smiling face of Norman is recognized by all. He is a well groomed, energetic, ambitious, friendly, and dependable person. Norman's ambition is to be a farmer and his hobby is to work with his FFA Project.

Norman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Tucek, was born in Canyon, March 31, 1936 and is now living near Canyon. When Norman was in the seventh grade he was president and played on the junior football team. He is one of the Student Faculty Congress representatives of his class now. This is his second year in FFA.

Bull-e-Teens!

The Eagles Tale staff would like to make a correction concerning the net proceeds of the Halloween Carnival which appeared in last week's paper. The carnival netted $1,456.66. Of this amount the P. T. A. received $1,140.66, and the classes of the Canyon schools will get $316.

BAND ACTIVITIES

The C. H. S. Band journeyed to Floydada Friday night to entertain the fans at half time.

The group played a fanfare, followed by "The Booster." A diamond was formed. Twirlers presented a routine to the tune of "On Wisconsin."

A variety of 7-8 rhythm routines were presented.

Wednesday night at 7:30 the C. H. S. Band will present a Thanksgiving Concert at the First Christian Church. Feature numbers will be "Prayer of Thanksgiving," "Beautiful Savior," "Come Ye Thankful People," and "Let God Be Praised in Heaven Above."

A select group will be chosen from the entire band.

PEP RALLY

Yelling their lungs out, the cheerleaders and student body strived to inspirit action into the "Eagles" before their game with Floydada Friday night. This was the last game of the football season. The pep rally ended with the school song.

SOPHOMORE PARTY

Hayrides are really fun, just ask any sophomore who went on the hayride November 13. To add to the gayety, three deep and snipe hunting were played. Hot dogs, marshmellows, pop, and potato chips completed the evening.

FREIGHT RATES

Claiming that a rate increase granted in August is inadequate, the railroads have asked for a new freight-rate increase, estimated at about 7.2 per cent. This would be in addition to the increase of about 6.6 per cent allowed by the Interstate Commerce Commission on August 2.

"B" TEAM GAME

Passes from R. A. Burgess to Charles Boling accounted for two touchdowns Thursday night, November 16, when the Canyon "B" team defeated Floydada "B" team, 14 to 28.

Floydada received a safety in the first quarter when a Canyon player was pushed behind the goal line. Later in the same quarter Floydada tallied, the extra point was missed.

Early in the second quarter Charles Boling ran a touchdown on a pass from R. A. Burgess, R. A. ran the extra point. Later in the same quarter on an identical play Charles scored. R. A. made the conversion. Half time score was 14 to 8 in Canyon's favor.

Midway in the third quarter James Joyner tallied for Canyon. Don Beck made the extra point. Floydada scored, the conversion was missed.

In the final quarter Don Beck ran the ball to the one yard line, and Mitch Murray tallied for Canyon. Don ran the extra point to make the final score 28-14.

Junior Red Cross members and representatives from the different classes of Canyon High School were presented by Barbara Beck, co-chairman, in an assembly Wednesday, given by this group.

Dorothy Neblett, sophomore, C. H. S. representative at the Junior Red Cross Training Center at Morrilton, Arkansas, last summer, gave a report on the activities of the delegates there. The honor as Canyon High's official delegate to the annual convention goes each year to the one accomplishing the most work and showing the most interest in the local organization.

Enrollments are being taken for anyone who would like to become a member. Tysene Cox, junior, stated the Junior Red Cross plans this year include an International Correspondence Album, gift chest, and entertainments and decorations at the Veterans' Hospital during Christmas.

During intervals in the program, music was presented by the high school ensemble groups. "Moon Glow" and "Dinah" were sung by a girls' group. A pantomine and singing of "Deaf Woman's Courtship," "Red River Valley," and "Down in the Valley" were given by Bertha Lindsey, Sue Kinney, Laura Kinney, and Shirley White. Wayne Bassett sang "Friends of Yesterday." "Stouthearted Men" and "Pirate's Song" were presented by the boys' ensemble.

Eaglettes Win One Lose One to Happy

Displaying good sportsmanship and excellent ability, the Eaglettes are off to a good start this year after their scrimmages with Happy and St. Mary's Academy. Both the A and B teams defeated the girls of St. Mary's Thursday. Eaglettes were overthrown by Happy in a very close game Wednesday, November 7.

Journeying to Amarillo Saturday, the girls will attend the Basketball Clinic at Amarillo College.

Before about 750 frosty fans, the Canyon Eagles emerged from their nest and flew past the Floydada Whirlwinds 25-21 in the District 2-AA contest at Wester Field in Floydada Friday night.

Bob "Red" Ratliff, Eagle halfback, outstanding, both in passing and ground play, was the star of the game. In the second quarter he dodged and jumped his way around for 90 yards to score for the Eagles, after receiving a kick-off. Again in the fourth quarter he swept 43 yards around right end for the score.

In the first quarter, Tom Middleton, Eagle end, scored on a pass from Ratliff. Lynn Williams, right half, in Eagle's backfield, counted for the other Eagle score in the last period. Ratliff added the point after his run in the last period.

Stovall, McGuire, and Carmack accounted for the Whirlwind TDs. Adding all three extra points was tackle, Roy Teague.

Hereford defeated Tulia 6-0, Friday night. This left Canyon and Tulia in a two way tie for district play-off. However, since Tulia has previously beaten the Eagles in their first District 2-AA play-off, District 2-AA will be represented by Tulia in bi-district competition.

Graduating this year are: Stirling Cummings, Jim Montgomery, Curley Slack, Dwain Currie, Jimmie Cornette, and Ray Burrus.

Returning next year to play for the Eagles are: Dan Gaylor, A. C. Wimberly, Lynn Williams, Dick Dawdy, Arlen Ruthart, Tommy Middleton, Tommy Myers, John Miller, and Don McDonald.

Dating Data

Girls, did you ever overhear a question of this sort asked by a boy, "Why does she wear so much goo on her face? Why, I saw her just last week with just a little bit of that stuff on and she sure was a knock-out." Is this remark made about you?

Girls, remember that make-up is purely decorative. It should be used to improve the face, not to hide it. And if you use powder, rouge, lipstick, and mascara, use it with taste. Do not borrow or lend your powder puff or comb. These are personal articles and should not be exchanged.

Boys, do you ever feel that someone is looking at your fingernails, teeth, neckties, or your shirt tail? Do you feel self-conscious? If you do, why not take time to correct your faults and also improve your appearance?

If you cannot afford a cleaner's bill every week, learn to use a clothes brush or else try to be more careful. When buying that hair oil be careful not to get it too "fragrant." And by all means do not let the interval between shaves be too long.

Boys and girls!!! You are never fully dressed without that smile so put it on and leave it there.

VET-AID BILLS

The President has signed three bills aiding veterans. One was an appropriation of $5,000,000 to pay death benefits of $10,000 to service men who died in uniform — applying mainly to casualties of the fighting in Korea. Another extends regular disability and death benefits to men who served in the armed forces after the outbreak of Korean fighting and the third bill provides that war veterans, who develop multiple sclerosis within two years after their release shall be considered as having acquired it while in the armed forces.

Art Classes Slate Exhibit for Spring

A childrens' art exhibit, featuring art work from all of her art classes, is being planned by Miss Claudia Neelley, head of Canyon High School Art Department, to be held in down-town Canyon sometime in the spring.

This exhibit will represent all ages of children from first grade through high school, by showing works of art that are characteristic of each. "It is hoped," says Miss Neelley, "that the progress of some individual students from the beginning of the year to the last can be shown."

Miss Neelley also hopes to exhibit the paintings of an entire class, done one day during class period, so that everyone can see how each individual person expresses his own ideas.

Spring may seem a long way off, but Miss Neelley says, "now is the time to begin preparing for such an ambitious exhibit."

Miller Emphasizes Educational View

Education is important! Mr. J. E. Miller, principal of Canyon High School, stressed this point in a talk to the student body during assembly Wednesday, November 14. He pointed out that some of the students have been letting subjects slide and are not doing as good work as they are capable. Mr. Miller showed that studying and working towards a high education should be every young person's main goal.

He also spoke of the activities of students in and out of school. There have been several complaints of pupils driving recklessly around the school yards and creating other such disturbances. Mr. Miller says this "casts a bad reflection on the school itself," and asked that students be more careful of their activities outside of school, as well as inside.

FFA Greenhands Are Initiated

Initiation for the FFA Greenhands was held at the regular monthly meeting in the cafeteria November 12.

With 100 per cent present, the following were initiated: Gale Aufleger, Kenneth Berry, R. A. Burgess, Leroy Burrow, Wayne Cope, Lonnie Davis, Dick Dawdy, Jimmy Golden, Larry Hungate, Billy McBroom, Jack McCormick, Foster Parker, Ralph Pope, Tommy Rose, Frank Smitty, Billy Joe Stephens, Eugene Aufleger, Kenneth Bonds, Allen Downing, Gilbert Irlbeck, Jimmy Sanders, Frank Lill, Bruce Ranson, Ronnie Ratliff, Dwain Rutherford, Jimmy Kuhlman, A. C. Wimberly, Bob Ratliff, Steve McKee, Bobby Hardaway, Jerry Downing, and Jim Reynolds.

Refreshments of ice cream, cookies, and pop were served by Tom Wright, refreshment chairman.

WOMEN

In a drive, scheduled to start on Armistice Day, November 11, the armed services hope to recruit 72,000 new women members by next July in the women's Army, Navy, Marine Corps, Air Force and Nursing Corps. About 40,000 women are now in uniform.

Course in Home Nursing Finished By Local Women

Mrs. Donald Olson and Mrs. George Ballard have each completed teaching a class in Red Cross "Home Nursing."

The women who took these courses are enthusiastic over the practical training they received. Classes ran three days a week for two weeks. It is a course set up with actual sick room environment and problems, not a lecture course.

Mrs. Olson is ready to teach a night class beginning within the next two weeks if there are enough women wanting the course to have a class. Persons interested should let Mrs. Olson know at once or leave their names at the home demonstration agent's office for her.

Women completing Mrs. Olson's class were: Mrs. Cleo Conatser, Mrs. J. M. Breitling, Mrs. Jack Barnard, Mrs. Earl Burtz, Mrs. Clifford Burtz, Mrs. Emil Olson, Mrs. Arthur Olson, Mrs. N. C. Gentry, Mrs. B. E. McCormick, Mrs. Horace Carter, Mrs. Ralph Ruthart, Mrs. Wayland Angel, and Mrs. John Robinson.

Those completing Mrs. Ballard's class were Mrs. Douglas Marshall, Mrs. Bill Dugan, Mrs. Roger Dugan, Miss Elizabeth Jacobs, Mrs. Erwin Meyer, and Mrs. Clinton Miller.

Postage on Local Letters, Cards Increase

On January 1, 1952, the price of postcards will advance to 2 cents each, and the cost on drop letters will be increased to 2 cents each.

This is in keeping with the new law passed by Congress which is seeking to offset the cost of running the postal department.

Postal rates of newspapers and magazines will be increased each year for a three-year period starting April 1, 1952.

All postal employes were given a boost in salary by the last session of Congress to offset the increased cost of living.

Methodist Church Site of Christmas Program, Dec. 2

The Wesleyan Service Guild of the Methodist Church invites Canyon people to plan and hear the Christmas program, "In Christ There is No East or West," to be given Sunday night, December 2nd, in the Methodist Church at 7:30 o'clock.

The program last year received so many favorable reports that the church plans a similar one this year. There will be a Negro choir of 50 voices brought from the Carver High School in Amarillo.

So far there will be six different nations represented. This program is being prepared for Randall county people and it is the desire of the church that they enjoy it. Remember the date, December 2nd, and the time is 7:30 p. m. at the Methodist Church.

Unemployment in September was estimated at 1,606,000 persons, or about the same "minimum level" figure as for August, according to the Census Bureau.

Miss Shirley Dixon Is Honored by Two Bridal Showers

Shirley Dixon, bride-elect of Travis Payne, Jr., was recently honored by two showers. During the afternoon of November 10, Miss Dixon was given a miscellaneous shower at the home of Mrs. E. T. Cummings. An estimated 80 persons either called or sent gifts upon this occasion.

Guests were served golden punch, cake and mints from a table set with sterling silver and covered with a white imported hand embroidered linen table cloth. The table was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums. There was a huge bridal cake with a miniature bride and groom standing proudly on top.

Hostesses were: Mrs. Ralph Ruthart, Mrs. Bill Martin, Mrs. A. L. Walsh, Mrs. Mitchell Jones, Mrs. Norman Cook, Mrs. Jack Barnard and Mrs. E. T. Cummings.

Guests were present from Tulia, Hereford, Happy and Amarillo as well as Canyon.

The second shower was given the bride-elect at the home of Miss J'vne Dodson during the afternoon of November 17. This was a personal shower and the table was arrayed with lace over yellow linen set with crystal. Peach colored punch, mixed nuts and cake were served. The table was decorated with yellow chrysanthemums arranged in the shape of a heart. Other rooms of the house were decorated with ivy.

Approximately 40 guests called or sent gifts. Hostesses were: Mrs. Harold Martin, Mrs. Charles Pond, Miss Peggy Funston and Miss Rowena Funston and J'vne Dodson.

BY HIMSELF

The class had been given a rather difficult sum to do for homework, and strange to relate, Tommy, the dunce of the class, was the only one with the correct answer.

"Did your brother help you with this, Tommy?" asked the teacher.

"No, ma'm," replied Tommy truthfully. "He did it alone."

WHOLESALE PRICES

A 0.1 per cent drop in the wholesale price index during the first week of September brought the index to 176.7 per cent of the 1926 average. This is 12.6 per cent above the pre-Korea level and five per cent above a year ago.

They are, left to right, James Young, as Gooseberry Jones, second place; Richard Busteed, as Ichabod Crane, first place; and Martha Juniper, as Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch, third place.

Observance of Book Week was culminated at West Texas Elementary School Friday afternoon by a parade of favorite book characters in the auditorium, supplemented by songs from the Junior High School Choir, directed by Miss Virginia Bailey.

Texas Western To Meet Buffs in Amarillo Stadium

This Saturday the thundering Herd journeys to Amarillo for a game with Texas Western in Amarillo Stadium. This is the final tilt for the West Texas State College Buffaloes, the team that climbed one step out of the Border Conference cellar November 10, by defeating New Mexico A. & M.

With a crippling loss of many of his star players, Coach Kimbrough has pushed the Herd through the season for two victories. Earlier in the season the Buffaloes downed the McMurry Indians in a non-conference tilt.

There followed four stinging defeats at the hands of Arizona University, North Texas State College, the homecoming game with Hardin-Simmons University and Arizona State College at Tempe. The Buffs hit the come-back trail when they played New Mexico A. & M.

The spirit of the 1950 Border Conference champs seemed to pour out an abundance of power on the team as they played the New Mexico Aggies. They thundered out of the Border Conference cellar in a game that ended 50 to 20 in their favor.

Saturday the thundering hooves of the Buffaloes will be pawing the gridiron in Amarillo Stadium for another conference win. It is the final game, their last chance to climb higher in the conference that they ruled with only one loss last year.

Migratory Birds In Palo Duro Park For Second Year

Palo Duro Canyon Park officials announced that the bluebirds have returned to the park again this year. The announcement was made last week that the annual migratory birds were back in the canyon.

Each November thousands of these birds come to the canyon to spend the winter. These western bluebirds, as they are called, eat the seeds and berries from certain species of cedar and shrubs that grow in the canyon.

Some of the birds even nest in the canyon, but most of them migrate from the north and west each winter. The canyon has been described as a migratory bird paradise. Nature students, who have studied the canyon, have found more than 160 species there.

Return of the bluebirds cannot be described as punctual as the swallows' return to Capistrano. The return of the bluebirds to Palo Duro Canyon seems to closely follow the first cold wave to hit Colorado and New Mexico.

Neither is their flight a mass flight which comes in at the same time in winter and departs about the same time in the spring. They sort of straggle in as the cold wave swoops into Colorado and New Mexico, and then straggle out again the following spring.

5 per cent rise in 1952 meat supplies is predicted.

Just Between You, Me, and The Gatepost

Football season ended in a blaze of glory for the Canyon Eagles Friday night. In spite of the hard luck suffered by Coach Murry and Johnson's Eagles, they moved up the ladder to tie in the district with Tulia. Some of the players, besides Red Ratliff, who turned in excellent performances were: A. C. Wimberly, Jimmy Cornette, Tommy Middleton, Johnny Miller, Jimmy Montgomery, Dick Dowdy, Arlen Ruthart, Dwain Currie, Lynn Williams, Phil Boothe, Pete Donnel, Don McDonald and Tommy Myers.

It was the sixth week that Stirling Cummings was benched due to an appendicitis operation. Ray Burrus was out with a sprained ankle, suffered during the game with Hereford. Harrell Slack's back injury kept him out of the game, and James Cundiff was still out because of an earlier injury.

The remainder of the Eagles are: Larry Stroup, Richard Perkins, Don Beck, Doyle Green, Bernie Morris, Jerry Downing, Charles Morris, Charles Boling and Leroy Dickerson. As we say goodbye to the pigskin season of 1951 we also add, "Good work fellows, may you reap bigger and better glories as you advance, both in life and sports," -30- for the Eagles' football in 1951.

In the wake of the pigskin trail comes the fearful gobble of the turkey. Thanksgiving is the day that yanks the big bird right off the roost and into the baking pot; the day cranberry sauce, pumpkin pie and other delicious foods will give students respite from studies. In fact, everything will be wonderful except the many highway accidents that will take the lives of many motorists throughout the nation.

The News staff has another reason to boast about their versatile boss. He's one of the 62 runner-up editors in the Writer's Digest Editor-of-the-Year contest. There was quite a long write up concerning this in Sunday's Amarillo paper. In addition to the write up, the paper also carried a picture of our editor and publisher.

In case you don't remember, last Monday, November 12, it was rather windy. A high wind was the one thing that farmers feared after the hard freeze we had recently. The menace was to grain sorghum and other feed that was still in the field. After the hard freeze a high wind was looked upon as a force of destruction because it could flatten the feed in the field and cause farmers a great loss. Although it had been several days since the freeze that the high wind came along, it still caught some feed in the field and ruined a great portion of it, according to county agent John Brazzill.

Another thing that you may have noticed about the high wind and that is the fact that it spilled the leaves that still clung to the trees. They covered the ground and streets and as they blew along they sounded like the tinkling of fine china being tossed about. It's the first time, many people exclaimed, that they ever saw such leaves about the street. The leaves didn't get the opportunity to undergo a gradual change of colors. Most of them were still bright green when the freeze came and they merely dropped to the ground. The freeze also gave the leaves a rigidity that caused the tinkling sound as they were driven along concrete streets and sidewalks by the wind.

When nominating the meanest man in the world, you'll just about hit the proverbial nail on the head by selecting the man who would rob children of the recreation they should have. Proper guidance is needed in recreation as well as in other phases of life if today's youngsters are to grow to be tomorrow's leaders.

Then there's the joke concerning the young swain who went to his girl friend's father stammering, "I'm afraid I'll have to ask for your daughter's hand in marriage."

The father piped right back, "well, what did you expect, hanging around here all the time the way you've been doing lately.?"

If there's any doubt in anyone's mind about whether or not winter is really here, just notice how much longer the nights are. When you go home at 6:00 p. m. it's dark, a few months ago it wasn't even sundown. Longer nights also make 8:00 a. m. classes seem an hour or so earlier, if you don't believe it, ask the student who has one.

Fishermen boast of the big one that got away, big game hunters tell of the ferocious animals they have bagged, but what does the duck hunter boast about? Most ducks are about the same size. They're not overly ferocious and it usually requires a couple of cold, wet feet to get them (this is in addition to being a good shot). So, besides having a true eye for the target, what does the duck hunter have to boast about?

Statehouse

by HUGH WILLIAMSON

Where does the tax money come from, and where does it go?

State Comptroller Robert S. Calvert issued a financial statement, which throws a lot of light on the subject, the other day. For example:

Of the total state receipts during the last fiscal year, a little more than 23 per cent came from gross receipts and production taxes. The largest part of that is accounted for by gas and oil.

Highway motor fuel taxes added up to about 18½ per cent, with three per cent being returned in refund claims to people who use motor fuel in equipment that does not travel the highways.

And about 21½ per cent came to the state in county, federal, and other aid for roads and other purposes.

Those are the biggest items on the list of revenue sources. Adding up to a little more than five per cent each were ad valorem tax, cigarette tax, automobile taxes, and land sales, rentals and royalties.

Total revenues were $62,080,973.-69.

Now let's see what happened to the money.

The biggest single item of expense for support of free schools and vocational education, 32 per cent. Higher education took nearly six per cent of the total amount spent by the state.

The second biggest item was for highways and road debts, 24 per cent. And public welfare accounted for 21 per cent of the tax dollar you paid the State of Texas.

Those were the big entries; the only other amounting to five per cent was for eleemosynary and correctional institutions.

Well, if we had to spend all that money, it's a good thing we could get it to spend. Texans indicated, however, by rejecting an increase in old age assistance payments, that they are opposed to any greater tax burden.

Texas' government is generally considered to be in good shape. For this, and for many other things, Texans can be thankful. Jim Carroll, editor of the magazine Preview of Texas, says it this way:

"Even though the rest of the nation finally has been able to shake off the results of the holiday date juggling, Texas again this year really will have two Thanksgivings. I think that's just fine. Texans have at least twice as much to be thankful for as most other folks."

There is no limit to the height of a Texan's aspirations, Carroll says, because "he can do anything he is man enough to handle." The editor continues;

"Texas is such a land today as Horatio Alger envisioned half a century ago. And there are few places left upon this earth that still fit his visions.

"If you think — if you plan and stick with your program — if you work, Texas will reward you . . .

"Why shouldn't we have two Thanksgivings?

"Thank God I am a Texan."

Junior Deputy League Members Plan Their Future

After the youngsters saw the free show Saturday the Canyon Junior Deputy League met for their first discussion of the preliminaries of the new organization now being formed. Each prospective member was given two cards. One to be signed by his parents and the other is a pledge card to be signed by the Junior Deputy himself. The parents sign a card which gives their consent for their boy to become a member of the Junior Deputy League.

The program is set up for boys between the ages of 8 and 18. John King, local Chief of Police, outlined the plan that would be followed by members of this organization. Plans for organization of the Junior Deputy League have been given much consideration during the past two months.

The Junior Deputy League is being sponsored by the Community Recreation Council and the local law enforcement authorities. Plans for future activities and exciting events are being made. King, who has worked with other organizations of this type, hopes to obtain the presence of the youngsters' favorite movie stars from time to time. Other organizations have been visited by movie stars. King showed pictures of various organizations that had been visited by famed movie stars. It has been hinted that a famous western star may visit Junior Deputy League next summer.

HOUSING

The easing of credit regulations on lower-priced homes is designed to help encourage the construction of new houses for defense workers and military personnel. The bill provides for lower down-payments and allows 25 years to pay off the balance on housing selling up to $12,000. Under the previous regulation, the maximum maturity was twenty years for housing priced at more than $7,000 except for hardship cases under GI loans.

DRAFT TESTS

College students are being warned by selective service officials that deadlines for the second series of draft-exemption tests are approaching. The examination dates are December 13, 1951, and April 24, 1952. Draft deferments for students are based on either an examination score of at least 70 or satisfactory rank in class (the upper half of freshmen, upper two-thirds for sophomore, upper three-fourths for juniors).

Witches Will Ride Imported Brooms; U. S. Supply Down

The wives and witches of America will be buying and flying more brooms from overseas this year than ever before.

The ladies aren't calculated to like them very much, however. Sweepers made from imported broomcorn are more brittle, less durable than those fashioned from stocks of U.S. corn-straw. Nevertheless, the price of both foreign and domestic brooms is likely to be about the same—highest in history.

Ever since World War II, production of American broomcorn has slowly but steadily declined. Increased importation of foreign broomcorn became necessary after the smallest crop on record was brought in last year. Bad weather joined with a cut in acreage to trim the harvest to a meager 25,900 tons, slightly over half that of 1949's crop.

Even with favorable weather conditions the future of the home-grown, broom brush appears uncertain. After the war American housewives jumped at the chance to buy mechanical sweepers. Brushes and brooms made of plastic and nylon also flooded the market to win a measure of popularity. Broomcorn farmers noted uneasily the consumer trend, and many decided to take action.

By 1947 farmers across the broomcorn country—Oklahoma,, Colorado, Texas, New Mexico, Kansas and Illinois—had switched in considerable numbers to wheat and other crops which, unlike broomcorn, benefited from the government price support program. Also, unlike broomcorn, wheat is reaped mechanically and poses few labor problems.

Side View Mirrors on Specs Is Latest of Inventions

Rear-vision mirrors are standard equipment on motor cars, but side-view mirrors on spectacles are a brand-new idea. One such device is about a quarter of an inch wide and three-quarters of an inch long, and is attached behind the right lens of the glasses, next to the nose.

It was prescribed by an eyesight specialist to correct a rare visual difficulty known as hemianopsia, which means inability to see over certain segments of the visual field. Hemianopsia is caused by a disorder of some of the optic nerve fibers connecting the eye and the brain. One or both eyes may be affected.

The side-view mirror was designed to pick up objects on the patient's blind side and reflect them to that part of the retina still able to see. In this way the visual image is detoured over the remaining good nerves from the eye to the brain, avoiding the fibers which have gone out of operation.

Dog Distemper

Distemper is one of the most common diseases among dogs. Most dogs are constantly exposed to the virus that causes distemper, and few ecape having the disease to some degree. Distemper is highly contagious and often fatal. However, dogs can be protected against it by vaccination, and now an entirely new type of canine distemper vaccine is available to veterinarians. This product, a modified live virus vaccine which gives lasting immunity, is produced by Lederle Laboratories Division, American Cyanamid Company. The result of many years of intensive research, this new vaccine insures against distemper with only one injection. Previously, dog owners had to visit the veterinarian a number of times for a series of injections to acquire any kind of immunity against canine distemper. This new vaccine is a chick embryo-adapted strain of distemper virus passed through embryonated eggs. Because the virus is so weak in the modified form, the vaccine is entirely safe in that it will not produce distemper. At the same time it eliminates post-vaccinal accidents which often occur with the old-fashioned, virulent virus vaccines.

New 'Copter Invented

A spidery helicopter with 12 "legs" to "walk" through the sky has been invented by John Sidney Neale, Hendon, London, England. He has obtained U.S. patent No. 2,540,404 for his helicopter with four three-bladed rotors. A sketch in the February 6, Official Gazette, shows a passenger-carrying fusilage similar to the conventional transport plane. One rotor is fore and one aft on this fusilage. By an outrigger arrangement, there is attached a nacelle of similar but narrower design. The other two rotors are fore and aft on the nacelle. The power plant is in the nacelle. Manufacturing rights have been assigned to the Pennine Aircraft Limited.

Special Finish For Corn

The canned fruits and vegetables you eat today would not keep their right-from-the-garden appearance if it weren't for the interior can finishes especially designed for the purpose. The canning of corn presented an exceedingly tough problem to solve. At first, when corn was canned, black spots developed which canners called "corn black," Actually, it was sweet, delicious corn—picked and canned at the right time—but it didn't look right and people wouldn't buy it. So the canners developed a durable finish

'Blond Mandans' Contribute To Anthropology Problems

The first white men to reach the headwaters of the Missouri River early in the eighteenth century reported a "white nation"—Indians who reputedly had fair skins, blond or brown hair, long beards, and a civilization with many European likenesses. These were the Mandans, a few of whom still persist, although the tribe was nearly eliminated by a smallpox epidemic more than a century ago.

Although the early reports were doubtless greatly exaggerated in transmission from mouth to mouth to the eastern seaboard, there was enough fact to give them some substance, and the "blond Mandans" have constituted one of the puzzles of American anthropology. It was held at first that they were descendants from Indians and members of the legendary expedition of the Welsh chieftain Madoc in the twelfth century. More recently there have been speculations to the effect that they resulted from admixture into the tribe of survivors of the fourteenth-century Scandinavian expedition of Paul Knutson, which apparently came to grief in northern Minnesota.

Unfortunately, all early eyewitness reports of the blond Mandans apparently are exaggerated. Travelers who visited the tribe in the early nineteenth century also reported exceptionally light Indians; but by this time the phenomenon could be attributed in part to admixture with white trappers and traders who had been in contact with the Mandans for nearly a century.

But the earlier reports remain a challenge. The evidence has just been summed up by Dr. Marshall T. Newman, Smithsonian Institution anthropologist, in the Southwestern Journal of Anthropology. There is a very high improbability, he points out, in the thesis that the supposed blondness was derived either from Madoc's or Knutson's men. In pre-Columbian times the Mandan tribe apparently contained 8,000-15,000 persons. The genes for blondness of a few white men would have been smothered in a short time. And so, the question of the "Blond Mandans" has yet to be satisfactorily answered.

Learning to Play Musical Instrument by Reading Music

Parents whose child is having a hard time learning to play the piano or violin ought to realize just what the trouble is. The youngster is trying to read music, which means picking up whole groups of notes at a glance, in the same way that one picks up groups of letters at a glance when reading a book. So far he can only spell out the music note by note, so it doesn't make sense to him.

There is a meaning behind the musical notes, just as there is behind the printed letters that form words. Reading in either medium consists in seeing through these symbols without being conscious of them, and grasping their meaning. The meaning of music is noth merely its emotional or artistic content but its structure—that is, chords, sequences, modulations, melodic patterns, the movement of the melody up and down by definite, recognized intervals.

Army Tribute

Americans watching the expansion of the United States Army in times of crisis, should be heartened by the words of Winston Churchill in 1946. He said: "I greatly admired the manner in which the American Army was formed. I think it was a prodigy of organization, of improvisation . . . the rate at which the small American Army of only a few hundred thousand men, not long before the war, created the mighty force of millions of soldiers is a wonder in military history. ". . . It remains to me a mystery as yet unexplained how the very small staffs which the United States kept during the years of peace were able to build up the Armies and Air Force units, but also to find the leaders and vast staffs capable of handling enormous masses and of moving them faster and farther than masses have ever been moved in war before."

Eliminating Ants

Thallium sulfate is a good poison to eliminate ants. It is sold in small tin boxes which are placed where the ants can reach them. A hole is punched in the box to expose the bait. It should be placed out of reach of domestic animals and children. A 5 per cent DDT spray, or a 5 per cent or 10 per cent DDT powder, applied to window sills or other places over which ants travel, is effective. The insecticide chlordane, in a 5 per cent powder form, also makes a good barrier. Usually an ant nest outdoors may be destroyed by mixing a 10 per cent DDT powder in the top inch of soil over the nest.

Carburetor Gum Cleaner

Carburetor gum—a prime cause of slow starts, poor pickup and high gas consumption—can be removed without the necessity of pulling the caurburetor with a new tool, called "Gumouter", and a solvent, "Gum out," which injects the cleaner directly into the carburetor .The cleaning job is said to take only 20 minutes and to reduce sharply the cost of such maintenance.

Randall County Dairymen Tops in State for September

Randall County led the state in average milk production per cow, according to the D. H. I. A. News, an official dairy publication. The official publication goes on to state that during the month of October production per cow was raised 100 pounds. This is an indication that some good cows are being handled properly, says the D. H. I. A. News. The two things that Randall County dairymen are doing which helps them lead the field in good dairy cattle are, watching closely the quality of cattle and improving upon the roughage feeding program.

A couple of tips were passed on to dairy and cattle men about that dehorning job. For a good job of dehorning that will keep your cattle looking better, a ring of hide should be cut off with the horn, says the News. This prevents later unsightly and troublesome horn scars and the horn that is cut closely does not bleed so much as a longer stub.

In addition to the tips on dehorning the News also pointed out a way to help rid the cows of grubs in the back. Complete directions in applying, as well as the kind of powder you should get to do away with the grubs will be found in the October issue of D. H. I. A. News.

NOT KIDDING

Selbyville, Del. — Farmer Ward Collins read a used-truck advertisement offering a $20 discount for each of the purchaser's children. Not too impressed, Mr. Collins investigated and found the offer genuine. When he went to Wilmington to buy the $325 pickup truck, he took birth certificates for twelve of his fourteen children and the truck cost him only $85. $325 less $20 each of the children. Two of the Collins' twelve live away from home and he didn't ask for a discount for them.

Southern Democrats, skillfully led, have President Truman checkmated if he should change his mind and seek renomination. The power to block election of Mr. Truman or another Democrat not acceptable to the South lies in the hands of political leaders of Southern States with 128 electoral votes.
